Americans, Made Public by

CABINET CHALLENGED TO ISSUE ITS REPORT

Document Accuses Chief
Secretary of Falsifying—London Newspapers Assail the Government.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—What is alleged to be the sworn testimony of some 70 eye-witnesses describing the burning of public buildings and stores in Cork on Dec. 11 and 12 last as unprovoked and unjustifiable, and the prevailing condition of Ireland under British military rule as one of "lawless terrorism," was issued yesterday by the Irish Labor party and Trades Union Congress through the medium of the London headquarters of the British Labor party. The document is in the form of a report, printed and published in Dublin.

The report, which is described by its authors as the result of an impartial inquiry instituted immediately after the conflagration, contradicts statements made by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, that the Sinn Fein were the incendiaries responsible, accusing the Crown forces of being solely guilty and challenges the Government to publish the findings of the military inquiry instituted by Major-General Pilkington, in command of the troops.

American Testimony Included.
The third assistant engineer, a fireman and boatman of the American steamship West Cannon are among those from whom the report is compiled. With reference to these statements the report says it was necessary to conceal the identity of the witnesses, otherwise they would not have volunteered their evidence.

Recalling Sir Hamar Greenwood's assertion Dec. 13 that "it is obvious to the interest of the Government to find the perpetrators of this outrage," the report declares: "If, then this investigation is to the interest of the Government, for it certainly succeeded in finding the perpetrators of this outrage."

Contradicting Sir Hamar Greenwood's statement that the fire started in the Patrick street stores, and spread to the other buildings, among them the city hall, which is a considerable distance away on the opposite side of the River Lee, the report says: "It is a pity the Chief Secretary does not know a little more about the topography of the country he is supposed to rule; he could then lie more."

A map of Cork City is attached to the report, with a reproduction of one published in a London afternoon paper the day after the fire, which, the report charges, was "faked" in order to substantiate the official report on the burning issued by the Irish office.

Disputing the suggestion that the burning partook of the nature of a reprisal for the ambushing of a party of crown forces at Dillon's Cross, it is declared that before this attack occurred, namely, 8 o'clock in the evening, it was known there was going to be trouble in the city, shooting and quarrelling among the black and white having been going on throughout the evening.

Crown Forces Accused.
A summary of the voluminous testimony follows purporting to prove that the burning and ensuing arson and other outrages were carried out entirely by the Cork crown forces. The report emphasizes that "it was while the military had sole and complete charge of the streets and while no civilian might be abroad without a permit that the city was burned and looted. This alone," it adds, "is enough to decide the authorship of the fire."

The report continues: "So far from firing on or arresting looters and incendiaries, the officers and soldiers on duty in the curfew hours encouraged the work of plunder and destruction."

Commenting on the manner in which the official curfew report was prepared in an endeavor to show that the crown forces found the buildings burning and tried to save them, it says: "It is hard enough on Irishmen to have their city burned; it is still worse to be told they did it themselves. A Government stooping to such methods is not only a badly but a sneak."

The report refers scathingly to the Government's refusal of a judicial inquiry and to its entrusting the investigation to "those publicly accused of being the perpetrators."

Newspapers Assail Government.
In the editorial comment of the anti-Government newspapers this morning there is a scathing comment on the Government in connection with the report of the recent fire in Cork.

"We most strongly urge upon the Government," says the London Times, "that it should have been impossible for any document of this description, whether founded on truth or falsehood, or both, to have misapprehended the official report. . . . Owing to the Cabinet's foolish hesitations, we are not in a position to give any of it."

Members of Legislature Have Placed 49 Relatives at the State 'Pie Counter'

Representatives Outdo Senators in the Matter of Family Thrift, With 34 on the Payroll.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 20.—Economy appears to begin at home with the legislators of the Fifty-first General Assembly, for 49 relatives of members are on the payroll of the House and Senate.

Though clerical economy has been preached the loudest in the Senate, members of the House seem to outnumber their more dignified colleagues in the matter of family thrift, for 34 relatives of Representatives are being paid in capacities extending from page to clerkships of various sorts, while 15 relatives of Senators are at the legislative pie counter.

Fifteen of the relatives so listed are wives, 11 representatives having their helpmates on the clerkship list, while four Senators have done likewise. Several have children working as pages, one Representative, Fenton T. Stockard of Greene County, having both his wife and little daughter, Mildred, on the payroll. The child is a page. Senator W. A. Collins of Sedalia also has connected with him in law in two extra places his wife and son, Harold, both being on the list.

Girls Appointed as Pages.
This is the first time that the House has permitted the appointment of girl pages, several girls, none of them apparently more than 12 years old and at least two of them the relatives of legislators, having been put on the payroll. The names of Democrats as well as Republicans appear in the roster of those who have "taken care of the folks," but as the Republicans have allowed the members of the minority only a few jobs to distribute, the Democratic families have not fared especially well.

This relation is indicated from the fact that the House of 125 employees now on the authorized list, only two stenographers and two pages were allowed the Democratic members. In the Senate of the 140 to be named, 42 Democrats were allowed a total of 20, including two stenographers, three stenographers and a clerk each, there being 15 Democratic Senators.

Point to Cost of Living.
In defense of their action in either appointing relatives or having some fellow legislator appoint them, the Representatives and Senators point to the cost of living in Jefferson City for a session as compared to the $5 a day allowed members. The $15.00 a day paid to clerks and stenographers and the $15.00 a day paid to pages, is a considerable help in meeting the family subsistence account during the session.

Although the Republicans, in the past, have consistently attacked Democratic State officeholders on charges of nepotism there has been no effort in either House, both controlled by Republicans, to clear relatives off the rolls this time. Representative Whitaker of Hickory County, a Republican, was active in this regard during the last session.

It has been urged that the State sometimes does not get value received for salaries paid to relatives of legislators from the fact that these favored employees often only report when the checks are being distributed, and at such other times as do not interfere with their personal conveniences. Some of them are faithful employees, and take a conscientious interest in the work intrusted to them, however.

Some of the Relatives.
A list of Representatives with employees of the same name accredited to them, is as follows:

Representative Buser—Jessie Buser, enrolling clerk.
Representative H. W. Baker—Mrs. R. W. Baker, journal clerk.
Representative Burch—T. W. Burch, journal clerk.
Representative Day—Hallie E. Day, clerk.
Representative Fred L. Dunlap—Mrs. Fred L. Dunlap, clerk.
Representative Dyott—M. L. Dyott, clerk.
Representative Ellis—Blanch Ellis, Mildred, on the payroll.
Representative Foster—Charles J. Foster.
Representative Hesselstine—Grace Hesselstine.
Representative Hubbard—Chloe Hubbard.
Representative Heege of St. Louis County—Lawrence F. Heege.
Representative John J. Haas—Mrs. John J. Haas.
Representative Hopper—Lois Hopper.
Representative W. S. Harden—Mrs. W. S. Harden.
Representative H. O. Harwood—Mrs. Lizzie Harwood.
Representative Howard—Grace Howard.
Representative George J. Meeker—Mrs. M. Meeker.
Representative Morgan—H. O. Morgan.
Representative Myers—Mildred Myers.
Representative Malone—Mamie Malone.
Representative W. S. Peltz—Mrs. W. S. Peltz.
Representative Henry M. Smith—Mrs. H. M. Smith.
Representative C. E. Shelman—Mrs. C. E. Shelman.

Representative Charles Straub of St. Louis—Charles Straub Jr.
Representative I. J. Wilson—Mrs. Alice Wilson.
Representative George W. Wilson—Bernice Wilson.
Representative Frank J. Wetzel of St. Louis—Celia Wetzel.
On the House list also are six other employees of the same name as Representatives, but appointed by the chief clerk or elected at large. They are: M. J. Meeker, journal superintendent; Leonard Meeker, clerk; Harold Meeker, clerk; Mildred Meeker, stenographer; and Randolph Meeker, stenographer.

Senators' Relatives.
On the Senate list it is noticed that some of the Senators have lengthened the connection, by having the appointments made by colleagues. The Senate group follows: Senator Liversay—M. C. Liversay.
Senator McCullough—H. H. McCullough.
Senator Cunningham—May Cunningham.
Senator Lyasight—Jennie Lyasight.
Senator Bowker—G. C. Harris.
Senator Harris—M. Bowker.
Senator Chambers—Martha Chambers.
Senator Pickett—Russell Pickett.
Senator Robinson—Harold Pickett.
Senator Tont—Mrs. Bulah Tont.
Senator Young—B. P. Chambers.
Senator Bennett—Bertha Bennett.
Senator Collins—Julia A. Collins.
Senator La Favor—Mildred La Favor.
Senator Chambers—T. Chambers.
According to the reports of Secretary Zellweger of the Senate and Chief Clerk Chapin of the House, the clerks, stenographers, pages and doorknopers on the payroll are well within the limits fixed in the two houses, 150 in the Senate and 140 in the House.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Discovery of a widespread system of graft in which law-abiding citizens and business houses are required to pay for police protection was announced last night by former Police Captain Whitman, who is investigating alleged corruption in the city administration.

Evidence submitted to the January additional grand jury yesterday by Whitman resulted in the finding of an indictment against Police Captain Percy Dubois, who was charged with having received an illegal fee from a printing concern during a strike in 1915.

NEWTON SPEAKS IN BEHALF OF HIS RIVER BILL

St. Louis Congressman, Before House Appropriations Body, Urges Utilization of the Mississippi.

TELLS OF PROGRESS BY GOVERNMENT LINE

Declares That the Great Difficulty in the Past Has Been the Lack of Sufficient Boat Power.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The rivers and harbors subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee listened today to the "voice of the valley" when all the old-time river men gathered on the floor of the committee to urge the greater utilization of its rivers.

Testimony was given to show that wherever streams are made navigable, private enterprise is quick to grasp the opportunity of profit from barge lines. Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, author of the bill now pending in the House for the completion of project on the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio already authorized by Congress, told the committee of the progress which has been made by the Government line on the Lower Mississippi.

Difficulty in the Past.
"The great difficulty in the past," said Newton, "has been the lack of power. One power boat, the Natchez, the first of the six new boats of the line to be delivered, develops more power than all the old-time boats with which we had to carry on the initial operations on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers."

"The contract called for a boat of 1500 horse-power, but the Natchez shows 2200 without crowding the machinery. Its crew took it up the river from New Orleans to Cairo in 14 days with half a load of freight, and at 80 per cent of the rate rates, it produced in revenue $35,000. The cost of the trip was $15,000, leaving a profit of $20,000. This shows what can be done on the river when all the new equipment is in operation. We expect shortly to come before the committee with a plan of demonstration of what can be done."

Chairman Dempsey expressed himself as in sympathy with further development of the water ways, but that some of the Senators had opposition on the floor of the House, and he shall need the support of you and your friends."

Speaks for Men of Valley.
"I can speak for the men of the Valley, the producers of the support," said Newton. "There are men here to appear before you who are heavy taxpayers. They would not be here asking for an appropriation if they were not convinced of the practicality of the project. The waterways have woven a network of obstructions about private operations. When they are removed, and when navigable channels are provided, private operations will go forward."

O. F. Barrett of Cincinnati, owner of the largest boat line on the Ohio, said that he wanted to correct the impression that only the United States Government was building boats for river use. He said that he had made an investigation lately and was astounded at the work being done. On the Ohio, he said, the investment in boats in 1913 and 1914 was $21,000,000. These boats all are for private enterprises and have a carrying tonnage, Barrett said, equal to that of 5000 freight cars.

"We are asking the Government to spend a dollar for boats on the Ohio," said the witness. "Millions are ready to be invested in equipment when the lock and dam system is completed. Give us this channel and the boats will be provided."

Terminals at Cincinnati.
Barrett said that Cincinnati was spending $100,000 on wharf improvements and was ready to go further when Congress showed a disposition to go ahead and complete the authorized improvement of the river. A number of private concerns, he said, had spent and were spending money on terminals in order to take advantage of the barge lines already operating.

C. E. Smith, head of the C. E. Smith Engineering Co. of St. Louis, which designed the river terminals at that city, estimated that St. Louis alone spent $500,000 on terminal facilities, and that the city had made provision for large expansion of the barge line business.

Cairo owned its water front, he continued, and Memphis was spending a million dollars on docks. He thought that the Government might aid properly to provide terminal facilities at Vicksburg. Smith's testimony was designed to show that citizens of the Mississippi Valley are alive to the possibilities of river transportation.

E. F. Goltz and W. K. Kavanaugh of St. Louis said that with a relatively small amount of work the Mississippi could be made one of the best barge waterways in the world. Goltz said that 70 per cent of the upper river now provides an adequate channel.

Asked by the committee to give concrete facts and figures relative to river tonnage, he said that Cyrus McCormick had offered 160,000 tons of a Tucatan product resembling

BULK OF ESTATE LEFT BY MICHAEL B. SCANLON TO WIDOW

Bequests of $1 Each of Three Children; $2000 to St. Louis U. Endowment Fund.

The will of Michael B. Scanlon, an architect, 3761 West Pine boulevard, who died Jan. 15, was filed in Probate Court today. It is dated Jan. 12, and leaves the bulk of the estate, of which the value is not ascertained, to the widow, Mrs. Mary Scanlon.

Three children, Thomas, Mary and Michael, receive bequests of $1 each, and two minor children, John and Marie, are entrusted to the care of their mother. Bequests of $500 each are made to a niece, Mary Scanlon, and a nephew, Michael Scanlon, both of Chicago.

Kentrick Seminary and the St. Louis University Endowment Fund are to receive $2000 each; $300 each is bequeathed to the Little Sisters of the Poor, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Holy Helpers of the Holy Souls; $500 to the pastor of St. Francis Xavier's Church for masses for the soul of the deceased, and $500 for the support of the church. The Holy Rosary Church for masses and half for the support of the church.

hemp, from which binder twine is made, that the Quaker Oats manufacturing company wanted space in which to transport large quantities of "black strap" out of which to make cattle feed, and that a guano shipper offered 12,000 tons of oyster shells to be sent to the Gulf of Mexico as the basis of a chicken feed.

Chairman Dempsey, who showed himself keenly interested throughout the hearing, said that he welcomed the facts given by Goltz, as they would simplify the work of the committee in presenting the case to the waterways on the floor of the House.

He added that the recent heavy increase in the rail rates had focused the attention of shippers and the public on the necessity of getting cheaper transportation by means of the waterways. It was gratifying, Dempsey said, to note the activity of municipalities in building terminals.

Channel Allowed to Spread.
Capt. T. L. Faudry, transportation director of the Aluminum Ore Co. of East St. Louis, said that barges of his company had been in operation for as much as two months at a time because the river had not been confined to its proper channel, but had been allowed to spread out. Even under the difficulties which had been experienced, he said, his company had been able to make a considerable saving in freight rates, when it was possible to use its barges, and had helped to relieve railroad congestion.

He said that his company had carried 80,000 tons from Memphis to East St. Louis and would have transported 150,000 if the channel had been open at all times. Testimony was given by Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City that the Kansas City-Missouri River Navigation Co., of which he is president, was ready to resume operations when assurance was forthcoming that Congress would live up to its implied promise of 10 years ago that the channel would be given a six-foot depth from Kansas City to the mouth. Owing to the fact that the channel of the Missouri was not properly confined to its banks, Dickey said it was estimated by engineers that if it turned loose into the Mississippi each year about a cubic mile of earth. Dickey said that Congress had authorized the improvement of the Missouri at a cost of $20,000,000, of which $2,000,000 was to have been spent each year, but that to date only $5,500,000 had been put into the project.

Congressman Newton read into the record a telegram received today by James E. Smith from the secretary of the Missouri Farm Bureau in annual convention at Columbia. The telegram said that the federation had been organized for the purpose of and for any other measure of river improvement that the Mississippi Valley Association might favor.

"This message is proof," said Newton, "that the agitation for waterway improvement is not confined to people living on the river. The farmers of Missouri realize the benefits that would accrue to them."

"There has been a great deal of talk about the purity of St. Louis milk based on the chemical examination for butter fat; that is to say, cream content, and we are told that practically the entire supply is above the legal requirements of 3 per cent and a considerable amount above 3 1/2 per cent. Let us consider just what this means. The average fat content of average mixed herd milk is 4 per cent. Jersey milk being about 5 1/2 per cent. Individual cows of certain breeds and at certain times of the year may supply a milk containing less than 3 1/2 per cent of fat, and in an effort to be fair to the dairymen a minimum figure of 3 per cent has been set by the city of St. Louis. This incidentally is contrary to the State law, which requires a higher per cent. The evidence brought out by the City Chemist points very distinctly to the fact that the herd supplying the milk were infected with the germ and that a large proportion of those infected showed no external evidence. It has been found that cows infected with tuberculosis may, within a week after infection has occurred, pass living tuberculosis germs in the milk, this being before the cow shows evidence of the disease. A tuberculous test once a year would fail to prevent such an occurrence.

Cost of Pasteurization.
"In places where the use of raw milk is common, the incidence of tuberculosis in children is enormous. Pasteurization properly carried out destroys all of the disease germs, and does not harm the milk as a food even for infants. The total cost of pasteurization, including interest on investment, labor, coal and refrigeration, has been found to be little more than the cost of the milk itself. The cost per gallon in the average plant ($0.0013). This is from figures supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture in Bulletin No. 88, issued in 1914. Admitting that costs have increased approximately 100 per cent, the cost at present would be about six-tenths of a cent per gallon, or between one-tenth and two-tenths of a cent per quart, certainly a small enough amount to pay for safety. Dairies have not infrequently advertised the fact that they supply pasteurized milk when they have been equipped with so-called pasteurizers of the 'flash' type which have been shown to be entirely inefficient; others with proper equipment have had it in charge of inefficient employees so that the milk after being run through the machine is not thoroughly pasteurized. Automatic means regulating devices and recording devices eliminate this possibility. Such are required by the city ordinance, but evidence has been brought out that this requirement has been disregarded.

Virtually All the Milk Fed to Infants in St. Louis Is Boiled, Physician Says

germs by boiling, and this is exactly what is done in the city.

"The facts in the case then briefly stated are that the infants of St. Louis are not fed on the city milk, and, therefore, the milk is as no way a factor in the low infant mortality. One might just as well argue that the low infant mortality in St. Louis is proof of the fact that our beer is of superior quality. This might be true, but as the infants drink neither the beer for the milk, it has nothing to do with the case. There are perfectly good reasons for the low mortality, among which may be mentioned the lack of congested tenements, small proportion of recently arrived foreign population, well-conducted municipal welfare clinic and high proportion of infants who are exclusively breast-fed.

"All figures on infant mortality which have been published are based on infants under a year of age. It is in the older children who receive milk without heat treatment that one expects to find evidence of the bad effects, and it has been a common experience of children's specialists of the city that gastro-intestinal disturbances among children of this group are extremely prevalent. These facts were brought out at a meeting held at the Statler Hotel some weeks ago.

Facts Outweigh Opinions.
At the recent hearings before the Board of Aldermen, the opinion has been expressed that the bacterial count of milk is of little significance. It might be well to point out that this is an opinion entirely contrary to that of the leading sanitarians of this country and abroad. It has been definitely shown that clean milk is safer to drink than unclean milk, and it has further been shown that the bacterial count when high is definite evidence that the milk has not been handled in a proper manner. The irreducible facts which should have much more weight than individual opinions of those who wish to excuse the present deplorable state of affairs existing in St. Louis. An enormous amount of scientific investigation has been made in the past 10 years regarding milk supplies, and it has been shown very clearly exactly what is meant by a good milk supply and the practical methods for obtaining such a supply.

Any city which desires pure milk can have it at an expense which is very small in proportion to the total cost of the milk. St. Louis does not have such a supply and, unfortunately, a number of other cities do not. If we are going to be content with pointing to Chicago saying that 'our milk supply is as good or better than theirs when we know that it is not what it should be, we will never have proper milk. I have no doubt that other cities console themselves by saying that their supply is as good as that at St. Louis. What we want is not to be as good as somebody else, but to be as good as is practically possible. It is the spirit of St. Louis that is the spirit of St. Louis, and that is never going to get us anywhere.

There are at present a very large number of dairies in St. Louis which sell unpasteurized milk, and it has been stated to the committee of the Board of Aldermen that such milk is fit to drink. Let us consider the facts in the case. There is no method by which one can be certain that raw milk does not contain disease germs and practically every city in the country has suffered from epidemics which have been carried by milk. To give specific examples of the way in which disease germs have gotten into milk: Many times milkers who have been apparently perfectly well have been carriers of typhoid germs and during the process of milking these germs have found their way into the milk. In an epidemic of streptococcus sore throat which occurred in Chicago in recent years, and from which there were thousands of cases and several hundred deaths, the source of infection was traced to a dairy supplying milk which had not been efficiently pasteurized. It was found that 14 per cent of the cows in the herd supplying the milk were infected with the germ and that a large proportion of those infected showed no external evidence. It has been found that cows infected with tuberculosis may, within a week after infection has occurred, pass living tuberculosis germs in the milk, this being before the cow shows evidence of the disease. A tuberculous test once a year would fail to prevent such an occurrence.

Cost of Pasteurization.
"In places where the use of raw milk is common, the incidence of tuberculosis in children is enormous. Pasteurization properly carried out destroys all of the disease germs, and does not harm the milk as a food even for infants. The total cost of pasteurization, including interest on investment, labor, coal and refrigeration, has been found to be little more than the cost of the milk itself. The cost per gallon in the average plant ($0.0013). This is from figures supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture in Bulletin No. 88, issued in 1914. Admitting that costs have increased approximately 100 per cent, the cost at present would be about six-tenths of a cent per gallon, or between one-tenth and two-tenths of a cent per quart, certainly a small enough amount to pay for safety. Dairies have not infrequently advertised the fact that they supply pasteurized milk when they have been equipped with so-called pasteurizers of the 'flash' type which have been shown to be entirely inefficient; others with proper equipment have had it in charge of inefficient employees so that the milk after being run through the machine is not thoroughly pasteurized. Automatic means regulating devices and recording devices eliminate this possibility. Such are required by the city ordinance, but evidence has been brought out that this requirement has been disregarded.

"There has been a great deal of talk about the purity of St. Louis milk based on the chemical examination for butter fat; that is to say, cream content, and we are told that practically the entire supply is above the legal requirements of 3 per cent and a considerable amount above 3 1/2 per cent. Let us consider just what this means. The average fat content of average mixed herd milk is 4 per cent. Jersey milk being about 5 1/2 per cent. Individual cows of certain breeds and at certain times of the year may supply a milk containing less than 3 1/2 per cent of fat, and in an effort to be fair to the dairymen a minimum figure of 3 per cent has been set by the city of St. Louis. This incidentally is contrary to the State law, which requires a higher per cent. The evidence brought

ONE CANDIDATE AT LEAST AGAINST KIEL IN PRIMARY

Name of Robert Burkham Added to Those of Judge Grimm and Aloe as Likely Opponents.

DWIGHT DAVIS TO SUPPORT BURKHAM

If Grimm Should Run, He Would Appeal to Support of Same Element That Might Back Burkham.

Mayor Kiel, on returning from Washington within the next two or three days, will find organized opposition, within the Republican party, to his nomination for a third term as Mayor.

Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Burkham is expected to file his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Mayor, in the primary of March 11. His candidacy was announced, though his name was not formally given, by Daniel M. Kirby in a talk before the new Citizens' Republican Club at Hotel Statler yesterday afternoon.

The question of chief interest to politicians is whether Burkham will be Kiel's only opponent of consequence. If only these two candidates were in the field, it is believed Burkham would have a good chance of winning the nomination. If a third candidate, possessing real political strength, were to file, the result might be to insure the Mayor's re-nomination. The filing time will end Feb. 15.

Men Backing Burkham. Some of the influential political friends of City Collector Koelsch, who favors Burkham are Dwight F. Davis, Charles Nagel, A. L. Shapleigh, Harry Langenberg and John H. Holaday, all of whom have been active Republicans and contributors to campaign funds.

Koelsch will make no statement at this time as to whom he will support for Mayor, but politicians generally are of the opinion that the support of Burkham by such men as Davis, Nagel, Shapleigh, Langenberg and Holaday, indicates that Koelsch will go the way of his friends and also line up for Burkham.

A statement of Koelsch's intentions is expected when Kiel returns. It is possible an effort will be made to induce Kiel to retire from the race, leaving an open field to Burkham.

Judge Grimm Mentioned. Two possible candidates who have been mentioned in the last few days are Dwight F. Davis, Judge Grimm and Louis P. Aloe, President of the Board of Aldermen.

Judge Grimm, if he should become a candidate, would be expected to have the support of the same element of the party which is now lining up for Burkham. He has not shown a personal desire to be a candidate, and it is believed he will not file if Burkham runs.

Aloe's announcement of his candidacy, made in Jefferson City, is regarded as being put forward as a leader, to determine how large a support he would be likely to get. Several members of the City Council and Aldermen are friendly to Aloe, and would be under some embarrassment if called on to choose between him and Mayor Kiel. Aloe is regarded as a good spender. As a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment he has been concurred with by the Mayor in the United Railways franchise extension compromise deal of two years ago. He afterward explained that he did not know that any franchise would be extended except that of the Jefferson line, to which the deal related primarily.

Burkham Possible Candidate. Kirby, who spoke before the Citizens' Club recently, is the last man to have been named as a candidate. He had heard that a man, who would be acceptable to many, had decided to file as a candidate for Mayor within a short time. Earlier in the day, Lieutenant-Colonel Dwight F. Davis, who was a candidate for United States Senator in the August primary, made a public declaration that he would not be a candidate for Mayor, but that Burkham would be a candidate, and that he intended to support Burkham. Kirby's declaration, in the light of that made by Davis, was taken as a reference to Burkham.

Burkham was secretary to Mayor Kreighbaum in the first part of Kreighbaum's administration, and was later an associate city counselor. He is now attorney for the Board of Education. He is chairman of the St. Louis executive board of the American Legion.

The Citizens' Republican League shows the following permanent-officers yesterday: President, E. J. Russell; Vice President, Robert C. Day; and Mrs. E. R. Kroeger, secretary.

Anthony Littner, treasurer, Joseph W. Bray.

The first candidacy filed for the March primary is that of Charles W. Burkham, of 1517 Russell avenue, Aldermen from the Fifteenth Ward, as a candidate for re-nomination on the Republican ticket. The Aldermen from the 14, odd-numbered wards, in the election April 5. The name of President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen will continue until 1923.

SECRETARY WILSON DEFENDS LOUIS F. POST TO CLOSE DANCE HALL

Instructions Faithfully Carried Out in Handling of Radicals, He Says.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A defense of the policy of the Department of Labor in dealing with radical aliens and a complete endorsement of the work of Assistant Secretary Louis F. Post in carrying out that policy was made today by Secretary Wilson in a statement replying to an attack on Post by the Executive Committee of the American Legion.

The Secretary's statement was transmitted by Secretary Tamm to Col. Lindsay, chairman of the Legion's Executive Committee. It was designed as a reply to a formal request for the dismissal of Post, which was presented at the White House last October by the Executive Committee in pursuance of a resolution adopted at the last annual convention of the legion.

Calls Post True American. "Louis F. Post is one of the truest Americans I have ever come in contact with," said Secretary Wilson's statement. "He is a thorough believer in democracy. He has, however, a profound belief in and reverence for the Constitution of the United States, including that part which provides for its own amendment. He has, therefore, faithfully carried out the instructions given by me as Secretary of Labor concerning deportation cases. They are in substance as follows:

"1. No persons shall be arrested except upon sworn affidavit passed upon information and belief.

"2. No person, when arrested, shall be held incommunicado.

"3. Every person arrested shall be entitled to counsel immediately upon being taken into custody.

"4. They shall be confronted with the evidence and shall be permitted to furnish testimony and be heard in their own behalf.

"5. Excessive bail shall not be required.

Instructions Carried Out. "These safeguards of American liberty having been provided, if it is then shown by the evidence that any alien is deportable under the so-called anarchistic laws, we will deport him with as little commotion as we would attack an invading enemy. We will not deport anyone simply because he has been accused or because he is suspected of being a 'red,' we have no authority to do so under the law. Mr. Post has faithfully carried out these instructions, and I am satisfied ranks among the ablest and best administrative officers in the Government service."

PULLMAN EMPLOYEES DENIES AGREEING TO WORK-DAY CHANGE

Says Men Are Dissatisfied With New Arrangement and Have Appealed to Labor Board.

The employees of the local shops of the Pullman company, 5550 Broder street, did not agree to a change in the work day from eight to nine hours in order to get a half day off on Saturday, as was announced a few days ago, according to E. J. Costello, 4243 Red Bud avenue, member of the men's General Committee.

Costello said the company violated the transportation act, which provides for an eight-hour day, and that the action of the company in changing the working hours had been directed to the attention of the Labor Board at Chicago for adjustment.

He said there was danger of a strike of the 750 employees in the shops here unless the eight-hour day was reinstated.

Officials in the superintendent's office denied there was likelihood of a strike, stating that the men were satisfied with the rearranged hours.

RECHECK BEGUN OF LIQUORS HELD BY DRY AGENTS HERE

Inventory Being Made at Demand of Frank T. Digges, Following Woman's Charges.

ONE RESIGNATION ONLY INSISTED UPON

Request That a Second of Agents Quit Withdrawn by Supervising Enforcement Officer.

A recheck of all liquors confiscated by local prohibition enforcement agents and stored in the basement of the Federal Building, at Eighth and Olive streets, was begun today, following a demand made yesterday by Frank T. Digges, Assistant Supervising Prohibition Agent, to Dan A. Gates, his superior, who was here in conference with members of a special squad of enforcement officers who had been investigating Digges and members of his squad for about six weeks. Gates departed last night for Oklahoma.

Digges pointed out to Gates that statements of Mrs. Mary M. Blaney, special investigator sent here from Washington, were published in the St. Louis Star, were to the effect that she knew liquor had been taken from the stock in the Federal Building basement, and he declared in fairness to himself and other members of the local enforcement squad the truth of these statements should be determined.

Only One Resignation Desired. Digges was not in active charge of the local squad of eight men since Dec. 1, when he was supplanted by George M. Williams, one of the special investigators. He turned over the keys to the storeroom in the Federal Building to Williams and the latter immediately changed the locks on the door to the room. This was done as a precautionary measure by the officer in charge.

Gates, before his departure last night, withdrew the request made several days ago, for the resignation of one of two men on Digges' staff, saying he had given the agent a full hearing on charges of "inefficiency" and ordered him to remain on duty. The second man refused to resign and demanded that an investigation be made of the charge against him, which also, according to Gates, is "inefficiency."

Gates will recommend the suspension of the man and in the regular course of procedure in the department the matter will be turned over to the intelligence unit of the department for investigation.

Inactivity Ordered, Agent Says. The agent who caused the withdrawal of the request for his resignation told Gates that he had been idle and had made no record during the last six weeks because he had been ordered by Williams to remain inactive. He also showed Gates that despite this order he had made, with the aid of city policemen, two cases against violators of the Volstead act.

As told in late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Gates said the investigation had been concluded and nothing had been reported to him by the special investigators which would warrant him in the belief that charges of a serious nature would be brought against anyone connected with the enforcement of prohibition here.

"The special squad came here primarily to investigate conditions generally," he said, "and not to investigate the matter with the department. We were informed that a great deal of liquor was being sold here. That is true. St. Louis is a pretty wet spot, the wettest in my district, but it is not as wet as any other large city in the United States and is much more observant of the law than New York or Chicago."

Gates said he was convinced that any charge made that confiscated liquor was removed from the storeroom in the Federal Building basement was without foundation. He said his request for the resignation of two members of the local enforcement squad was not based on anything revealed by his special investigators, but had been determined upon before the investigation started.

TWO MEN HOLD UP AND ROB TAILOR IN SHOP IN DAYLIGHT

Take $800 Diamond Ring From Finger, $87 From Pockets and Carry Bolts of Goods Out Back Way.

LEISURELY MANNER DECEIVES NEIGHBORS

Harry Tannenbaum, 3804 N. Sarah, Forced in Kitchen Back of Shop and Bound and Gagged.

Two men entered the tailor shop of Harry Tannenbaum, 35 years old, at 3804 North Sarah street, at 10 a. m. today and asked to be shown some suitings. Tannenbaum was showing them goods when one drew a revolver and pressed it against his head.

The robbers took from his finger an $800 diamond ring and from his pockets $87. They carried bolted goods out the back way through the alley to Maffitt avenue, where an automobile was standing in charge of a third man. They loaded it up and drove away to the eastward on Maffitt avenue.

Neighbors saw them but they went about their work so quietly that no suspicions were aroused.

Half an hour later Tannenbaum worked the gag out of his mouth and called for help. Marion A. Jones, 4634 A. Maffitt avenue, heard him and released him, and called the police.

A hasty inventory by Tannenbaum showed that 15 bolts of goods, valued at $1500 to $1800, had been taken.

Tannenbaum and his wife occupy rooms above and behind the shop. Mrs. Tannenbaum was not at home.

DEFEAT LIKELY FOR BILLS TO ABOLISH UTILITIES BOARD

Measures Proposing Repeal of Law Offer No Substitute for Public Service Commission.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 20.—An informal discussion by the members of the Judiciary Committee of the House of bills seeking to abolish the Public Service Commission, which has aroused antagonism in many Missouri cities and towns by granting increases in rates for public utilities, has revealed that there is very little probability that the commission will be seriously interfered with by this Legislature.

At a meeting last night of the House Judiciary Committee, to which the bills have been referred, Representative Elmer of Dent County suggested that a poll of the committee be taken to ascertain the attitude of the members toward the commission. Other members objected on the ground that the committee would hold hearings on the bills and was in some way the position of a court, making it inadvisable for the members to take a stand in advance of the hearing.

Elmer replied that he was opposed to the bills. Representatives Heege of St. Louis County and Cramer of Cape Girardeau County were the only members who announced they were in favor of abolishing the commission. Others said they opposed the bills and some members did not take a position.

COPIES OF POST-DISPATCH EDITORIAL FOR LEGISLATORS

Estimate Board Takes That Method of Making Road Court Its Advocacy of Police Home Rule.

Copies of the editorial printed in the Post-Dispatch of Dec. 31, headed "Mr. Hyde's Bad Reasoning" and setting forth arguments in favor of home rule for St. Louis in police matters, are being mailed to all the members of both branches of the Missouri Legislature, by the City Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The board consists of the Mayor, Comptroller and President of the Board of Aldermen.

At the meeting of the Board of Estimate last Saturday, it was voted, on the motion of President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, that copies of the editorial, with a letter stating that it had the indorsement of the Board of Estimate, should be sent to the Legislature, in the hands of the position taken by the members of the city government on the home rule question.

MAN CONVICTED OF ROBBERY GIVEN 20-YEAR SENTENCE

Harland Downey, 24, Found Guilty of Holding Up Deputy Sheriff Oct. 23.

Harland Downey, 24 years old, of 1429 Sullivan avenue, today was found guilty of robbery in the first degree and the penalty was fixed at 20 years in the penitentiary by a jury in Judge Hall's court. It took two and a half hours to try the case, and the jury deliberated 10 minutes.

Downey and his brother, Frank, 20 years old, were charged jointly with first degree robbery, but the "sid" brother took a severance and was tried alone. It was alleged that on Oct. 23 Downey held up Henry Schulz of 1818A Montgomery street, a Deputy Sheriff, the latter was walking along Nineteenth street between Montgomery and Warren streets on his way home. Schulz was sobbed of his watch, revolver and about $2 in cash. Schulz identified the brothers.

Neighbors saw them but they went about their work so quietly that no suspicions were aroused.

Half an hour later Tannenbaum worked the gag out of his mouth and called for help. Marion A. Jones, 4634 A. Maffitt avenue, heard him and released him, and called the police.

PEGGY MARSH BRIDE OF RAILROAD MAN'S SON

Actress Who Sought Part of Marshall Field Estate for Son, and Albert L. Johnson Wed Jan. 5

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Peggy Marsh, the young English actress, who came to America several weeks ago to fight for a part of the fortune of the late Henry Field II, on behalf of her 4-year-old son, because the bride of Albert L. Johnson, member of a well-known New York and Cleveland family, in Greenwich, Jan. 3. The fact did not become public until yesterday.

The bridegroom is a son of Albert L. Johnson, brother of the late Tom L. Johnson, who served four terms as Mayor of Cleveland. He died in 1901. He was a man of great wealth and was identified with large New York railway interests.

Johnson last night verified the story of his marriage, as did also the bride, who is in Mrs. Alston's sanitarium in West Sixty-fifth street, where she has just been operated on for appendicitis.

Incidentally it was reported that the Field estate had settled $50,000 a year for the education and upkeep of the former Miss Marsh's son—Henry Anthony Marsh. It also was stipulated that the estate would provide a $100,000 home for the mother, either in America or England.

Family Opposed Marriage. Johnson admitted that "My family, with the possible exception of my brother, Tom, do not approve of the marriage."

Johnson said that he would not come into his father's fortune until next October.

"But I have enough," he went on, "to support my wife and our son. I say 'our son,' for we intend to adopt the little boy as our own."

Speaking of their first meeting the husband continued:

"Peggy and I met quite conventionally at a luncheon at the Ritz. We were introduced and I fell in love with her. We went around together a great deal after that and on the evening of Jan. 4 I proposed to her."

Bride in Sanitarium. It was a week ago yesterday that the bride was attacked with acute appendicitis. It was said Mrs. Johnson had undergone the ordeal well, and probably would be able to leave the institution by Saturday.

Both bride and bridegroom gave their ages as 26 to the Justice at Greenwich.

Henry Anthony Marsh, whose adoption by Johnson will be brought about as soon as his wife recovers, reached America from England Saturday.

DOCTOR WINS SUIT OVER DIAMOND GIVEN AS FEE

Jury Decides He Earned It Even if Woman Gave It Without Husband's Knowledge.

A suit over a diamond pin which a woman took from her husband's shirt and gave to her doctor, after he had performed an operation on her, was settled today in the doctor's favor, after five years of litigation. The jury decided the doctor earned the diamond even if it was given without the husband's knowledge.

The plaintiff was Otto Schumacher, 1647 Garfield avenue, a commission merchant, and a former member of the House of Delegates. He sought to recover $300 from Dr. Clarence O. C. Max, 2554 Longfellow boulevard, to whom Mrs. Schumacher gave the diamond in 1910. The case was heard in Circuit Judge Davis' court, where it came on appeal from a Justice court, which had awarded Schumacher a verdict of $100.

Mrs. Schumacher testified that she was in a grateful mood toward Dr. Max, because of the success of the operation, and that when he sent her, upon receiving a $250 fee, that he had lost money on the operation, she gave him the diamond, which she had removed from her husband's shirt a few days previously.

Schumacher thought he had lost it. Five years later, however, Mrs. Schumacher joined a church, and in a penitential mood, told her husband what had become of his diamond. She testified, Schumacher immediately filed suit to recover it.

Dr. Max told a different story. He said that when he presented his bill for the operation, Mrs. Schumacher said she did not have money enough to pay it, and offered to settle for $200 and the diamond, to which he agreed. He said he sold the stone for $180. The operation, he testified, was one for which $200 to $1000 is usually charged, adding that he paid an assistant $100 to help him with it. The jury was out a short time.

REDUCTIONS UNLIKELY
IN SPRING SHOE PRICES

Retailers Place $2,000,000 Orders on Assurances Cost Will Not Change in 90 Days.

St. Louis retail shoe dealers who have returned from the annual convention of the National Retail Shoe Dealers' Association in Milwaukee said today that while there they received "unofficial assurances" from shoe manufacturers and wholesalers that there would be no change from present wholesale prices of shoes in the next 90 days.

On this assurance retailers at the convention, who had been holding back from the market in the hope of lower prices, placed orders for more than $2,000,000 worth of spring shoes.

Local wholesalers and retailers today said that the prices at which these shoes were bought were 25 to 40 per cent lower than the peak prices realized on last spring's stock and it was predicted that on many lines of shoes, especially the medium-priced grades, the retail prices this spring would be, on an average, 25 per cent lower than last year.

Some local wholesale houses and manufacturers have twice revised their prices since last September and some houses have made three revisions, all downward. As an instance of these reductions a dealer today said that certain staple lines of spring shoes, which cost the retailer $6 last year are now priced at $4 by some wholesalers.

The cleaning out of winter stocks to make way for the new spring goods has resulted in substantial price reductions in the winter shoes now being marketed by St. Louis retail dealers. These cuts in some instances amount to 25 to 40 per cent off the prices at which the shoes were offered at the opening of the fall season, and show a reduction of 40 to 60 per cent from the retail prices at this time last year.

POLICE BOARD APPOINTMENTS
GO OVER UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Gov. Hyde to Consult Several St. Louis Police Board Members.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 26.—Gov. Hyde said this morning that he did not expect to name the members of the Board of Police Commissioners in St. Louis until early next week. The Governor said he decided to consult a number of persons regarding the St. Louis appointments and that he desired to carefully consider the recommendations made to him, as he had no personal knowledge of St. Louis conditions to guide him, such as he had in making the appointments in Kansas City and St. Joseph. He apparently is trying to pick men who are not actively identified with organization politics, but men whose selection would not be objectionable to the organization.

Today he will have conferences with Chairman Stodumack and George Hohmann and Louis Becker of the Republican City Committee of St. Louis; Edward W. Forstner, former Mayor Fred H. Kreissmann and Joseph Thomas, also a member of the committee. Yesterday he saw Henry Kortjohn and Louis P. Aloe. Kortjohn and Aloe have recommended Julian Gibson, chairman of the Progressive Party Committee in St. Louis. While Gibson has not been endorsed by the Republican City Committee, no objections have been made to him, the members of the committee having been approached by an emissary of the Governor, who intimated that the Governor desired to appoint Gibson and anticipated no objection from the committee.

THE HOME OF HIS MOTHER

Frank E. King Leaves Note Saying He Was Despondent Over Poor Health of His Parent and Himself.

Frank E. King, 40 years old, at 8 o'clock this morning, shot himself in the left breast with a revolver at the home of his mother, Mrs. Julia King, 1729A Nicholson place, where he lived. He died an hour later at the city hospital. He left a note stating that he was despondent over the poor health of his mother and himself. Mrs. King is 72 years old, and had been in a hospital for some time, returning home a week ago. King, who is unmarried, had also been ill for several weeks. He had called a physician and was in the kitchen when Mrs. King in another part of the house, heard a shot and found her son on the floor, a revolver by his side.

HYDE AGAINST CALLING
STATE COMMITTEE MEETING

Republican Senators Had Proposed Session to Elect Chairman to Succeed J. G. Hughes.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 26.—The State administration has taken a position of opposition to the proposal of Republican Senators that the Republican State Committee be called into session to elect a chairman in place of J. G. Hughes of Macon, who resigned two weeks ago after his appointment by Gov. Hyde to the position of State Bank Commissioner. The St. Louis Senators have underway a plan to elect Senator Peter Anderson chairman of the committee. Roy H. Monier of Carrollton, vice chairman of the committee, who inherited the chairmanship when Hughes resigned, said today after a conference with the Governor and with Hughes that no meeting of the committee would be called.

"When the chairman resigned," he said, "the vice chairman became chairman. There is no occasion for a meeting of the committee at this time."

Monier is satisfactory to the State administration, which is said to desire to take no chance of losing control of the organization. The St.

Louisians, it is understood, are considering polling the committee to determine if they can get a majority to issue a call for a meeting.

THREE SOLDIERS HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE

One Declared to Have Showed Others How to Get "Easy Money" With Checks.

Alex Kriston, 18 years old, came to this country from Switzerland nine months ago, but learned so fast, according to the police, that by this week he not only had cashed a forged check for himself, but had enlisted in the army, and was giving his comrades lessons in the art of check writing.

As he was boarding a train at Union Station for Camp Grant last night, policemen intercepted him. Of the $100 which he got on a check at the Night and Day Bank last Tuesday, $45 remained. Kriston said he had given most of the other $45 to "busted" comrades at Jefferson Barracks.

His arrest was preceded by the arrest of Lloyd Forber, 18, and Harry Hubbard, 18, also soldiers from the barracks, who were taken in custody when they tried to cash a bogus check for $123 at the Night and Day Bank. They declared that Kriston had shown them how to get some "easy money" by writing checks, explaining that that was where he got all the $2 bills he had been giving away around the barracks.

MAN FREED IN ONE COURT WHEN CHARGE IS PENDING IN ANOTHER

Sidener Urges That Sheriff Keep Index of Prisoners to Prevent Such Occurrences.

Through a letter written today by Circuit Attorney Sidener to Sheriff Mohrstadt, urging that the Sheriff's office keep a comprehensive alphabetical index of prisoners and charges against them, and of the court rooms to which they are assigned, it was disclosed that Richard Jones of 4450 Swan avenue, was dismissed in one court and allowed to leave, while in another court there was a charge of attempted robbery, in which the victim was shot, pending against him, upon which he should have been held.

It is to prevent a recurrence of this kind that Sidener wrote to Mohrstadt.

Jones and John Votava, 2870 Arlington avenue, were arrested on a charge of holding up and robbing Carl W. Livingston, 2127 Geyer avenue, and were held at a preliminary hearing Oct. 15. On Dec. 29 they were discharged in Courtroom No. 10, and both walked out of court.

It was discovered later that that same day Jones was wanted in Courtroom No. 12 on a charge of attempting to rob The Dore Jacobs-meyer, 2124 College avenue, on Oct. 14, the information stating that Jacobs-meyer had been shot. Jones, who was not under bond, thus escaped the second charge, and is now at large. Votava still is connected with the robbery for which Jones is sought.

This incident occurred before Sidener and Mohrstadt took office.

HOUSE TARIFF COMMITTEE "TESTS" TOBACCO SAMPLES

Manufacturers, in Screen of Smoke, Say 5-Cent Cigar Is Gone Forever Unless Tax Levies Drop.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The old time 5-cent cigar, once hailed by Vice President Marshall as the nation's crying need in its return to normal, is gone forever unless tariff and tax levies on tobacco drop, manufacturers and importers told the House tariff framers today. The gloomy forecast emerged from a screen-of cigar smoke—that rolled and eddied about the Ways and Means Committee room, arising from samples brought by the tobacco men and promptly put to the test by the committee.

Witnesses asked for a reduction of the 25 per cent ad valorem duty on Sumatra wrappers in order that cigar prices might go down in keeping with the trend of the times.

MOVEMENT TO GET BETTER CAR SERVICE TO WEBSTER GROVES

The Fourth Ward Improvement Association of Webster Groves last night decided to request a hearing before the Public Service Commission on the matter of service on the Manchester and Brentwood car lines. The association will demand that trailers be operated on the Manchester line and that another car be operated on the Brentwood line.

Members of the association last night said that frequently it was necessary during the rush hour in the evening to either go to the loop at Broadway or wait 25 and 30 minutes, while several cars passed. The Manchester cars running into St. Louis in the morning also are crowded, members said.

Letters written to the Public Service Commission were referred to Col. A. T. Perkins, manager for the receiver for the United R. Ways Co. C. E. King, president of the Webster Groves Civic League, with 1000 members, told the association that the Civic League would back the movement.

Found Dead, Revolver in Hand. Herman Wiele, 42 years old, of 2919 Chouteau avenue, a tenant, was found dead in his room yesterday afternoon with a bullet wound in his head. A revolver was in his right hand and there was a note on a table near his bed which stated that the act was the result of fits. His stepson, Patrolman Paul W. Kratz of Central District, who took charge of the body, said Wiele had suffered from cancer.

$10,000 RAISED TO ADVERTISE ST. LOUIS

140,000 More to Be Subscribed,
With $25,000 From City—
Campaign Praised.

More than $10,000 has been subscribed toward the $75,000 fund to advertise St. Louis, it was announced by the Chamber of Commerce today. This does not include $25,000 which is to be contributed by the city, so that the amount still to be raised is about $40,000. The work of taking pledges and contributions has been in progress about 10 days.

The municipal advertising campaign, for which $50,000 was raised last year, is the subject of an article in a recent number of Printers' Ink, a national publication devoted largely to solving problems, and St. Louis is given credit for being the first city to press home the advantages which the Middle West has gained over the East by the change in freight rates. Part of one of the municipal advertisements is quoted as an example.

"Business men," says the article, "have set to work to determine how they can beat the high freight bills, and assistance has been forthcoming from many sources. Look, for instance, at St. Louis. Live business men there saw the point, and have blazed the way for much constructive publicity by the cities which are strategically located."

Advertisement Quoted.

"The successive increases in Eastern freight rates since 1914 of 5, 10, 15 and 40 per cent, and corresponding advances in express rates," declares the Chamber of Commerce, "is one of a series of advertisements, have figuratively removed New York eastward into the Atlantic Ocean some 1000 miles, as measured by the carrying charges to the Middle West. While the raw material and markets of the Mississippi Valley, Middle West and Far West have been further removed from the long-haul Eastern manufacturer, they have been drawn closer to the short-haul St. Louis manufacturer."

"A Mid-West factory in St. Louis commands the advantages of short haul and better service via 26 railroads at lower relative charge to more than 60 per cent of the country's buying power—and real choice between all export routes. Mississippi River service is offered at 80 per cent of freight rates."

Praise for Campaign.

The article goes on: "There is much for business men to ponder in this well-written advertisement. It is true that loyal New York boosters will not become unduly alarmed at the suggestion that Gotham is now (at least figuratively) upon such unstable foundation as is to be found some 1000 miles out on the broad boom of the Atlantic, but there is far more than an adroit combination of words in the good sales talk of a short haul to a big consuming territory."

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce are well satisfied with the results of the advertising campaign, particularly as to its value in bringing new industries here. It is expected that the $40,000 which remains to be subscribed to the fund will be raised in about a month.

SUIT OVER ENGAGEMENT RING

Youth Seeks to Recover Diamond and Other Gifts to Girl.

A suit to recover an engagement ring, valued at $275, and other articles estimated to be worth $645, was filed yesterday by Abraham Alvin Smith, 22 years old, 5947A Ridge avenue, against Miss Dorothy J. Marguliois, 20 years old, 1151A Walton avenue. Smith asserts that on Feb. 23, 1920, he presented Miss Marguliois with the ring and a fur coat and that on Dec. 2 they agreed to break the engagement, but the defendant has refused to return his engagement gifts. Smith charges that Miss Marguliois neglected him during their courtship and attended social functions with other men. Miss Marguliois is a supervisor for the Western Union Telegraph Co. She is a graduate of Central High School. Besides being employed with a packing company as bookkeeper, Smith plays a violin in theaters at night.

CHARGES U. S. SHIP LINE AGREED NOT TO INJURE BRITISH

Senator Jones Reads From Alleged 20-Year Contract Entered Into by International Mercantile Marine.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Charges that the International Mercantile Marine Co., an American shipping company now controlling the operation of approximately 40 vessels leased from the Shipping Board, is bound by an agreement entered into with the British Government in 1903 to pursue "no policy injurious to the interest of the British mercantile marine or of British trade," were made here today by Senator Jones of Washington, author of the merchant marine act.

Parts of the text of the alleged agreement, entered into for a period of 20 years, were read by Senator Jones in an address before the annual convention of the National Merchant Marine Association, in which the Senator made sweeping charges of attempts by British interests, supported, he said, by certain American interests, to destroy the American merchant marine.

The agreement, as quoted by Senator Jones, reserved the right of termination by the British Government in event of the pursuance of any policy injurious to the British mercantile marine and left the final decision in case of any difference as to this agreement or any dispute arising thereunder to the "Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain." Provision is made for continuance of the agreement after the 20-year period, "subject to notice of five years on either side."

As a result of this agreement, Senator Jones said, the steamship lines owned by the International Mercantile Marine Co., as well as the leased Shipping Board vessels now under its control, are "actually operated in the interest of the British Government and British trade, and subject to the terms of the contract."

In support of his charges that American interests were aiding in the British campaign against American shipping, Senator Jones declared an agent of the Shipping Board in New York City, who, he said, was a former employee of the International Mercantile Marine Co., had opposed the establishment of an American shipping line between New York and England, and admitted that his reason for doing so was that it would "injure the business of British lines from New York."

"The excerpts quoted from this agreement of August, 1903," Senator Jones continued, "do not leave the question open to doubt as to whom the International Mercantile Marine Co. stands as regards British interests. The question then naturally arises: 'Where do British shipping interests center in the United States?' The answer is that they center almost entirely in the port of New York, where their large terminal investments are located and from which most of their tonnage on this side of the Atlantic sails."

"In Accord With Railroads."
"Consequently, whatever benefits the port of New York benefits British ship owners. A monopoly of export freight sent through the port of New York spells greater profits for these British owners. It follows then that the British shipping men are in accord with the Eastern trunk line railway officials who seek to cancel the present equalization of export freight rates from central freight association territory to gulf and South Atlantic ports."

The Washington Senator declared this "accord" was shown when the New York State Chamber of Commerce appointed a special committee to confer with the trunk line association last April to lay plans for a fight to eliminate the existing equalization of export freight rates and appointed as chairman of the committee Delos W. Cooke, American director of the Cunard Line.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York is made up of international bankers and the heads of great railroads and steamship companies," Senator Jones continued. "Philip A. S. Franklin, a vice president of this Chamber of Commerce, is the president of the International Mercantile Marine Co., the American company which entered into the agreement already referred to."

Jones' charges caused a lively discussion. President Franklin of the International company asked who the man mentioned by the Senator was, and Senator Jones said he thought his "name was Mr. Andrews."

"We never had a man by that name," declared Franklin, and asked for further information as to the Senator's charges.

Senator Jones asked to be excused, saying he was compelled to return to the Senate.

Franklin Replies to Jones.
Senator Roush of Louisiana, who presided, then recognized Franklin to reply to the charges.

"It is manifestly unfair and unjust," Franklin said, "for a member of the Senate of the United States to make such charges against the International Mercantile Marine. The company is American. None but Americans is on its board of directors. Ninety-nine per cent of its stock is held by Americans. It has invested in American shipping. It transferred British ships to the American flag, and for us to be attacked is very unfair. Instead of receiving credit for the work we have done for American shipping, we are damned for it."

DETECTIVES FOLLOW YOUTHS IN TAXI AND DISCOVER ROBBERY

With Sacks Containing $57. Addressing Home of Man in-Court in Dry Law Case.
Detectives driving west on this afternoon met a taxi with three youths in it and followed it. When the taxi was checked by a car at Jefferson avenue, the detectives blocked the taxi and questioned and searched the occupants.
In his pockets two sacks containing $57.56. He said he was taking the money to the bank for a man named Scott. He could not tell where Scott lived and he had no bank book. They were taken to headquarters and questioned. The one who had carried the bags admitted, the detectives say, that he had entered Frank Leconski's apartment, above his soft drink establishment, at 2700 North Taylor avenue, with a skeleton key and had taken the money from a trunk.

Leconski and his wife, at the time were in Judge Miller's court, where the wife pleaded guilty to a charge of selling intoxicants, and was fined $100. The Leconskis did not know they had been robbed until the detectives informed them.

All three of the youths were held for investigation.

HOW "INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL" PLAN WORKS OUT IN PLANTS IN AMERICA AND IN ENGLAND

System Forced on Employers by Strongly Organized British Workers—Strength All on Employers' Side in This Country.

The Post-Dispatch herewith presents another article by Arno Dosch, a staff correspondent of the New York World and Post-Dispatch, who has made an investigation of American social and industrial life to see what differences exist between conditions here and those in Europe.

BY ARNO DOSCH, STAFF CORRESPONDENT OF THE NEW YORK WORLD AND POST-DISPATCH. Copyright, 1921, by The Post-Dispatch Co. (The New York World).

The "industrial council" idea as a means of reducing industrial warfare is being worked out in one way in England and in another way here. The English have had to come to it, forced by the fact that their factory workers are organized in industrial unions. Here it is voluntary, for the industrial workers are not organized in America. The British factory workers are organized because they are all, or nearly all, British. The American factory workers are largely foreign. In England it is a question of Englishmen dealing with Englishmen. Here it is a question of Englishmen dealing with foreigners.

The British have tried to get down to a uniform system of "industrial conference," known as the Whitley system. There it is an even game, with organization and intelligent leadership on both sides. Here the homogeneous leadership is all on one side. The industrial workers are at such a disadvantage in the fact of their not being all Americans that they cannot get together and hold together like the workers of England, France, Belgium or Germany, where the industrial unionism is traditional.

Situation in America. The American situation is peculiar to itself. It can only be approached from one point of view, that of the employer. The employer has only so much power as the employer may consider wise to yield him. This might not seem like a very important starting point for an idea that is supposed to be leading to industrial peace, but at that it appears to be so doing. At any rate it is a very important move in the history of American industry.

It may, for one thing, put an end to unionism, or render it much less important. It is pretty sure to interfere with the organization of industrial unionism which might prove to be the road to revolution. While union leaders in England favor the idea because they can approach it on an equality with the employers, in America union leaders fear it. Instead of stabilizing unionism as it is doing in England, here it is choking unionism out.

"Chattel slavery," said John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, when I mentioned the industrial conference. "A way to get men into such a position of humble obedience that they belong body and soul to their employer."

What the I. W. W. has to say against it is worse. It is, whatever be the means, easing off on the social unrest and the I. W. W. thrives on discontent.

Industrial Councils in U. S. On the other side the heavy industries—coal, steel and copper—refuse to have anything to do with it. The United States Steel Corporation has not even an industrial manager. Smaller great industries in Europe cannot take so independent an attitude, but here it is obvious that neither now nor in the immediate future can the great masses of factory workers get together and force recognition. They will eventually, of course if the situation demands, but they are on account of their lack of organization, for the time being helpless.

This makes the American experiments in "industrial councils" more interesting. While they have been motivated often by an extreme strike that set employers to thinking, the actual development of the system comes with a sense of the practical. It is also growing rapidly enough to make it appear that the industrial idea may be soon dominated by the idea. A year and a half ago there were perhaps 50 concerns working with shop committees. Now there are at least 700, and there may be many more.

To give a list of the important concerns is like reading the Stock Exchange list. General Electric, Westinghouse, Dupont, General Motors, International Harvester, these are concerns of a similar type. Most of the money invested is from the outside, mere impersonal capital. The managements have grown up from within the plants. The labor is in much closer human relationship to the management than the company. The capital returns big dividends, it is satisfied; but the other elements, management and labor, live and work together every day. Once an industrial council is established reuniting the management and the workshops, it is rarely let drop. It eases up the day-to-day difficulties. No matter what system is used, the daily contact is certain to avoid some strikes.

Three Conference Systems. There are three systems, generally speaking, in vogue: To organize the industrial council on the same plan as the Federal

THE SOCIAL PROBLEM in the Fight on Tuberculosis

Dr. J. J. Singer of Washington U. Chest Clinic Points Out That Many Are Not Cured Because They Can't Quit Work to Take Required Rest.

THE reason more victims of tuberculosis are not cured is that they cannot afford to give up work and take the necessary absolute rest. This is the explanation given by Dr. J. J. Singer, head of the Washington University Chest Clinic. So, he points out, the unsolved portion of the problem is social. The medical side knows what to do to effect cures, but cannot do it in most cases because of the social difficulties encountered.

Dr. Singer has prepared for the St. Louis Tuberculosis Society an article on "Social Conditions as the Predisposing Cause of Tuberculosis," in which he points out that cures can be effected in proportion to the number of afflicted persons who can afford to take the required treatment.

A series of articles bearing upon various phases of the tuberculosis problem has been prepared. These will appear in the Post-Dispatch. The first, on "Prevention, Spread and Treatment of Tuberculosis," by Dr. Selig Simon, medical director of the Jewish Home for Chronic Invalids, in St. Louis County, appeared yesterday. Dr. Singer's article follows.

By Dr. J. J. Singer.

THE subject under consideration is of unusual importance at the present time, and I am sorry to say, will become of greater import as times goes on; of course I mean post-war conditions.

Tuberculosis must be considered from two standpoints: (1) The relation to the individual, and (2) the relation to the community. The combination of the two constitute an entire problem. The problem of the individual is primarily a medical one, while the second is a social problem. I will try to explain in a few words what the present-day conception of tuberculosis is, so that there will be a better understanding of the disease.

Tuberculosis is a disease which is produced by germs, called "tubercle bacilli," discovered in 1882 by Dr. Robert Koch. These bacilli are present in practically every civilized community; consequently, wherever the germs are, tuberculosis may be present.

Tuberculosis manifests itself in various ways, such as tuberculosis of the bones of the glands, of the lungs and other organs. Bone and joint disease, which, by the way, is produced by the bovine type of bacilli, is a common form seen in children. The lung involvement is the adult type.

Statistics show that 10 per cent of all infants are infected in their first year, and 50 per cent of them die at 14 years of age. 90 per cent are infected, while only 10 per cent die. Thirty-three and one-third per cent of all adults between 20 and 40 die of tuberculosis. One must wonder why the disease is so common, and of such different character.

This is due to the fact that people resist the invasion of the germs in direct proportion to their resistance. Power to Neutralize Poison. Resistance to tuberculosis is explained as the power of the individual to neutralize the poison as it is produced in us by the ever-present infection. This power is the following: (1) Inheritance of a strong constitution; (2) Infection early in life, not sufficient to kill, but followed by a cure (survival of the fittest); and (3) by proper living and not using up the body resources in other channels.

You might ask what proof we have that 90 to 100 per cent of all adults have had the infection, I might answer: That many investigators have noted lesions of tuberculosis in nearly every adult on post-mortem examinations of individuals who have died of various other conditions. Tuberculin tests, and the X-ray, have proved the universality of the infection.

Nearly Everyone Infected. It is necessary to explain that the tuberculosis infection does not mean disease or consumption. Only under certain well-known conditions will the infection (of which the individual is not conscious) produce the disease. These conditions are caused by depletion and fatigue. Any physical wear will show on the body, whether it be work or play, whether it be dancing or digging trenches. The body cannot manufacture the anti-body, that is the substance—the resistance to tuberculosis—if it is St. Louis Quota for $100,000,000 Corporation Is $2,000,000 and District Quota Is $4,000,000.

PROJECT TO FINANCE COMPETITION ABROAD

Presidency Offered to W. P. C. Harding, Now Active Head of Federal Reserve Bank System.

St. Louis bankers and business men have subscribed $1,200,000 to the $100,000,000 foreign trade corporation recently organized in Chicago. News dispatches from New York today state that the presidency of the corporation has been offered to W. P. C. Harding, now active head of the Federal Reserve Bank system. The St. Louis quota for the corporation is $2,000,000; that of the Eighth Federal Reserve district, of which this city is the capital, $4,000,000.

President Carter of the Chamber of Commerce has appointed the following committee to complete the St. Louis subscription: Jackson Johnson, John A. Bush, M. L. Wilkinson, Benjamin E. Bush, Clarence H. Howard, F. Ernest Carter, A. L. Shapleigh, George Marion Brown, Murray Carleton, Wallace D. Simons, Ernest Six, Alvin Goldman, Sigmund Baer, David May, J. D. Bascom, Charles Rebeck, David B. Calhoun, A. J. Siegel, Benjamin Gratz, A. C. Brown, John F. Queney and R. H. Stockton. Virtually all are heads of industries and wholesale enterprises now engaged in foreign trade.

The Organization Committee for the corporation, announced also in New York, includes F. O. Watts, president of the First National Bank of St. Louis, together with representative bankers and business men from all sections of the United States. The new corporation is expected to make a valuable contribution to the United States foreign trade by making definite selections for all of them.

"I had thought originally," Harding said, "to name two or three Cabinet members in order to make up the parties named to take up informally the work that is to be theirs. But I have found it so difficult to fit in an administrative organization that I am not disposed to make definite tenders and have men accept, until I myself have made up a complete organization."

"There is no semblance of any marked drive either for or against either in support of or in opposition to any individual. There is the natural current of both political and personal cross-currents of personal, individual and factional opposition. It is all normal and does not keep me awake nights."

Plans G. O. P. Cabinet. "I am thinking all the time of getting an organization best fitted to serve the country. I am a partisan. I believe in the party government. I am going to have a Republican Cabinet. But no selection will be made because of party obligation, without consideration for the best service of the country."

The emphasis placed by the President-elect on his desire for a "Republican Cabinet" was taken to have direct reference to widely published stories that he would disregard the method of giving Cabinet positions to those who had been active in party politics, and might even go so far as to name a Democrat to one of the places in his official circle.

It is understood that the secretary of State and treasury were the two Mr. Harding had hoped to scratch off the doubtful list early in the new year. Charles Evans Hughes was regarded as first choice for the former place and Charles G. Dawes of Illinois for the latter, but recent developments have surrounded both of these selections with uncertainties.

Japanese Question Discussed. Congressman Kahn Predicts Peaceful Solution. By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Congressman Julian Kahn of California, in an address at a graduation entertainment last night, said that California would never involve the United States in a war with Japan, and that the Japanese question would be solved by a peaceful understanding between the two nations.

"I want you to understand," said Kahn, "that we are loyal, patriotic Americans, and, while there are serious differences between the people of California and Japan on the question of Japanese rights in our State, we are going to help solve that problem."

HARDING TONIGHT TO GIVE UP MARION HOME FOR 4 YEARS

President-Elect to Start on Vacation Trip to Florida, After Putting Affairs in Shape for Long Absence.

By the Associated Press. MARION, Jan. 20.—President-elect Harding packed his trunk today for a long absence from his home town. Although he will return here for a visit of one day after his vacation trip to Florida, which will begin tonight, he virtually has closed out his personal affairs here and is ready to give up, for four years at least, his place in the local community.

His active proprietorship of the Marion Star, whose guiding influence he has been for 20 years, was relinquished last night when he stepped down voluntarily as president of the Harding Publishing Co. At the insistence of his fellow stockholders, he accepted the chairmanship of the board of directors of the company, an honorary position. The President-elect's train for Florida will depart shortly before midnight, stopping at Chattanooga, Atlanta and Jacksonville, to St. Augustine, Fla., where it will arrive Saturday morning.

Appointments to Be Delayed. The President-elect said last night that he has given up his plan of making early definite selections for two or three of the more important Cabinet portfolios.

Without indicating the exact nature of the selections he has countered, the President-elect said that after several weeks of consultation he was not disposed to commit himself in regard to any one of the parties named to take up informally the work that is to be theirs. But I have found it so difficult to fit in an administrative organization that I am not disposed to make definite tenders and have men accept, until I myself have made up a complete organization."

Attorney-General Tells of Refusing Requests of New York Lawyer Relative to Alien Property.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Referring to the demand made by Samuel Untermyer of New York for an immediate congressional investigation of the Department of Justice and the office of the Alien Property Custodian, Attorney-General Palmer in a statement last night said he was "perfectly willing to accept responsibility" for the administration of the two offices and courted "the fullest investigation" into the administration of each. Palmer, before becoming Attorney-General, was Alien Property Custodian.

"Mr. Untermyer's criticism of the Alien Property Custodian's office," Palmer said in his statement, "is chiefly a criticism of the act of Congress under which the custodian operates. He never approved of the taking of enemy property as a war measure, much less the sale of it to American citizens as authorized by law."

Palmer said he would make "no comment upon the charge that the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice before and during the war did little except to rely on the British secret service," because he "had nothing to do with the conduct of this department during that period."

Requests From Untermyer. As alien custodian, Palmer said it was his "business to take over all enemy property in this country." He added that he did not please Untermyer, whose requests on behalf of clients and friends he was "repeatedly compelled to deny."

One occasion he said Untermyer concluded an interview by a threat of just the sort of attacks he has made upon me since."

Instances of the Attorney-General's use of extreme language came up before a sweeping congressional investigation he made of charges that Department of Justice agents in rounding up alleged radicals last winter were abusive and disregarded the legal rights of accused, brought assurance that he would not effect an immediate release of persons convicted of violating the espionage act and other wartime laws. Palmer told the subcommittee which was considering the advisability of granting amnesty to persons convicted of violating the espionage act and other wartime laws. INTERMYER ONCE THREATENED HIM, PALMER ASSERTS

Attorney-General Tells of Refusing Requests of New York Lawyer Relative to Alien Property.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Referring to the demand made by Samuel Untermyer of New York for an immediate congressional investigation of the Department of Justice and the office of the Alien Property Custodian, Attorney-General Palmer in a statement last night said he was "perfectly willing to accept responsibility" for the administration of the two offices and courted "the fullest investigation" into the administration of each. Palmer, before becoming Attorney-General, was Alien Property Custodian.

"Mr. Untermyer's criticism of the Alien Property Custodian's office," Palmer said in his statement, "is chiefly a criticism of the act of Congress under which the custodian operates. He never approved of the taking of enemy property as a war measure, much less the sale of it to American citizens as authorized by law."

Palmer said he would make "no comment upon the charge that the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice before and during the war did little except to rely on the British secret service," because he "had nothing to do with the conduct of this department during that period."

Requests From Untermyer. As alien custodian, Palmer said it was his "business to take over all enemy property in this country." He added that he did not please Untermyer, whose requests on behalf of clients and friends he was "repeatedly compelled to deny."

One occasion he said Untermyer concluded an interview by a threat of just the sort of attacks he has made upon me since."

Instances of the Attorney-General's use of extreme language came up before a sweeping congressional investigation he made of charges that Department of Justice agents in rounding up alleged radicals last winter were abusive and disregarded the legal rights of accused, brought assurance that he would not effect an immediate release of persons convicted of violating the espionage act and other wartime laws. Palmer told the subcommittee which was considering the advisability of granting amnesty to persons convicted of violating the espionage act and other wartime laws. Palmer told the subcommittee which was considering the advisability of granting amnesty to persons convicted of violating the espionage act and other wartime laws.

Palmer Demands Inquiry. Palmer also discussed charges made against his department by the National Popular Government League. These charges were drawn up, he declared, by a group of attorneys, "many of whom were counsel for persons arrested for deportation on charges of being alien radicals." Then asserting that "the time has come when we need something more than blind allegations, hearsay evidence and loose charges" on the part of persons "who are not distinguished," the Attorney-General asked that an attempt be made to ascertain the facts.

Senator Sterling, chairman of the subcommittee, announced that on Tuesday it would hear Prof. Zechariah Chafee of the Harvard Law School faculty, one of the attorneys who preferred charges against the Department of Justice in the name of the National Popular Government League.

Seven Divorce Suits Cost $1200. SPECIAL FIELD. Mr. Jan. 20.—The exercise of a woman's prerogative, cost Preston Rector, Green County farmer, $1200, but he has his wife, Amanda, back again. The Rectors were married in 1898. Since that time Mrs. Rector has filed seven suits for divorce. Six times the petition was dismissed at the instance of Mrs. Rector. The seventh time the divorce was granted last December, but she has changed her mind again, and Tuesday Rector obtained a marriage license and remarried his former wife. He told court officials his domestic troubles had cost him $1200 in court fees.

DOG SHOW ON MARCH 28-29

Eleventh Annual Exhibit of Mississippi Valley Kennel Club. The eleventh annual dog show of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club will be held at the Coliseum, March 28 and 29. In deciding to limit the exhibition to two days, the club followed the precedent set by Eastern clubs. It has been found that dogs, unaccustomed to the noise and excitement of a show, are prone to fall sick when exhibited for a longer period. The club has received $50 from Joseph Pulitzer Jr. to be given as a special prize or prizes for Chesapeake Bay dogs, in the hope of drawing a larger number of dogs in that class than have been shown at previous shows.

HOW INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL IDEA WORKS OUT IN U. S. AND IN ENGLAND

used to make a 15 per cent cut at once. This was sufficient to cover the cut in wages, and the only persons affected were the merchants, who admitted they had to pocket the loss anyhow.

This instance is illuminating, because it shows how far this idea can be carried and how much trouble can be avoided by men getting together with those to whom they pay wages and coming to an understanding. If the lumber market should be bad all winter it is apparent the strain would be too great for even so elastic an organization as the "Four L's" but by why don't we have it has proved what can be done by human contact.

Value of Contact Shown. None of the concerns which have seriously adopted the "industrial council" system pretend they have solved everything. They say they are simply restoring the human relationship which was lost through the growth of industry. They pretend to have found no new principle. Some go in for profit-sharing as a stimulus, others say it is not desirable. That is a matter of opinion.

The important consideration is the spirit with which the problem is approached. The mere fact that the management of a factory wishes to introduce such a system would indicate it has not a pinch-penny attitude. But those who oppose it, mostly labor leaders, hold that it is a far-sighted scheme to get a bunch of faithful slaves who acquiesce in the smooth arrangements prepared in council, so that they become wage slaves of the most hopeless kind. They also say, and with justice, that the system removes the incentive for joining labor unions, and, even though the management plays perfectly fair with union men, unions wither up and die, as they get no nourishment.

At the rate at which the "industrial council" idea is catching on it can be safely predicted that it is going to interfere with the growth of industrial unionism, which would otherwise begin to show itself. It has a tendency to make men feel surer of their jobs, which induces them to buy homes and unite their destinies with the industries they serve. It makes them feel they have a stake in the industry. If the spirit behind the movement is wrong, this could, as Fitzpatrick said, lead to a sort of chattel-slavery. But I have noticed in the few plants with "industrial councils" which I have been in that there was a spirit of service. I notice that the bigger American plants have become in a sense institutions, they have a code of conduct developed out of the special world which the institutions create. The people who get the dividends are far away, but the management and the plant are in intimate daily contact.

As I wandered through these plants, each with its own life, it occurred to me that within these plants was developing what the modern sociologist calls the social conference. If it has not such a spirit it does not succeed. The calculating employer who is only pretending mutual interest will not get the service in return.

These same modern sociologists hold that the present era is chiefly remarkable for having created the individual conscience, and the next era will produce the social conscience. They point to Russia and maintain that the theories of Lenin develop the social conscience. Anyone will go so far as to say that a social conscience is necessary if Lenin's ideas are to have a fair show. It would be ironic if the social conscience were to develop quicker in the despised American bourgeoisie republic than in Bolshevik Russia.

TRADING ACTIVE ON EXCHANGE; PRICES BREAK SHARPLY

General List of Gains Turned Into Losses in Afternoon—Oils Strong, but Steels and Rails Are Heavy.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Trading on the Stock Exchange developed on an active basis today, with a continuation of pool activity, prices advanced until, shortly after 2 o'clock, at that time, however, and coincident with the raising of the rate for call money to 7 per cent, prices broke sharply, so that a general list of net losses was turned in."

"The breaks in the more active issues amounted to from 1 to 2 points, bringing net losses for the day in fractions of 1 to 2 points. Throughout the trading rails were relatively inactive while steels turned particularly heavy, and oils were noticeably strong."

"Money closed at 7 per cent. Foreign Exchange Firm."

"Firmness continued in the foreign exchange markets. Sterling was bid up in the morning to $2.74, which was 2 cents above last night's closing."

"The franc was bid up to 13.15, which was 1 cent above the high price of last week. In later trading it reacted slightly to $1.71. French francs were as high as 6.57 cents and 6.58 cents, respectively."

"Reaction in the wheat market continued and all of the sharp January rally has been lost. March delivery opened weaker and by afternoon had broken 3 cents more to $1.65, or 1 cent below last night's closing."

"The price in 15 cents below the high of last week. Cotton went off 10 points to 13.15 cents on a weaker market, where a recurrence of some commercial troubles is reported, but in the afternoon sold for 13.50, or at about yesterday's level."

"Bank's reserve position is shown in the Bank of England's reserve position. This is 12.5 per cent, as compared with 12.2 per cent, as a result of a further decrease of $1,000,000 in deposits and an increase of $1,000,000 in reserves."

"The withdrawal of a corresponding volume of notes from circulation and their transfer to the reserve account of the banking department. The week's addition to bullion holdings is $1,000,000, amounting to $1,000,000."

"It is interesting to see the reserve position of the central bank is disappearing. The explanation lies in the essential difference between commercial credit and call money. In the former the volume of commercial credit is slowly contracting and providing discount rates are not lowered prematurely, will continue to flow with a corresponding betterment in the reserve position of the central bank. On the other hand, call money is absorbed by arrangements to meet taxes and by a rising volume of borrowing bonds and other securities."

SEVEN HOLDUPS AND BURGLARIES REPORTED

Robber Loots Home of Jewelry
Valued at $100, but Drops
$300 Worth in Place.

Two men, one of whom was armed,
entered the drug store of James M.
Swinney, 798 Bayard avenue, at 9 o'clock last night, and ordered Swin-ney to walk behind the prescription counter. One remained to guard him, while the second took $6 from the cash register and a revolver lying near the register, which Swin-ney kept for emergencies. When the robbers entered last night, he told the police, he was unable to reach the revolver before they held him up.

George Fargo, 3979 Gratiot street, a switchman, laughed at a highwayman who attempted to hold him up in the railroad yards near the main-way leading to the Chouteau avenue viaduct, at 8 p. m.

"Why the laugh?" the robber inquired.

"I don't carry any money," Fargo replied. The highwayman knocked him down with the revolver.

A burglar disturbed robbing the home of Henry J. Thomann, 1113 Dolman street, at 9 p. m., leaped through a window and escaped with jewelry valued at $100. He dropped $300 in jewelry as he ran through a bedroom. Thomann was in the front part of the house when he was attacked, interrupted the burglar at work.

Lieut. Gunn and a squad of police from the Laclede avenue district fired a dozen shots at one of two burglars caught trying to force the front door of the saloon of Rudolph Pertelie, 2951 Washington avenue, at 2:30 a. m. today. The man escaped.

In the doorway the police arrested a negro who gave his name as Joseph Pertecet, 29, 724 North Leffingwell avenue. A crowbar was found near him. He said he had been induced to accompany the negro who escaped, not knowing the object of their early morning trip. He was held.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN
NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-
Colds at Once

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store.
Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen membrane and you get instant relief.
Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hacking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

DANDRUFF SOON
RUINS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely.
To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

An Abominable Role.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The arrest of a well-known St. Louis man and certain others at a Delmar avenue address was given space in all local papers. The facts are doubtless not yet fully before the public, but if one can assume that the method adopted by a certain young policeman for securing information upon which a raid was based, was what it was stated to be, then I assert the method was a vicious one.

I am not attempting a defense of any of the persons arrested. If they violated the law they should be punished. I am discussing only the act of a policeman who posed, if not as a member of the underworld, at any rate as one who expressed a desire to have a fling at fast life. Assuming this abominable role, he gained admittance to a house and a raid upon the house shortly afterward followed. I am aware that to gain evidence of violation of the law, policemen have entered barrooms, bought paid for and drank liquor; have gambled with gamblers and won or lost money for purposes of later causing somebody's arrest, but to play the part of a fallen woman in order to establish guilt and secure an arrest is, I should say, the lowest depth to which this contemptible brand of spying can descend.

It may be that the young woman played a clever game and that the police department and she are proud of the outcome, but her act does the cause of good, order and decency no good. The fact, too, though of perhaps secondary importance, that a sizeable group of officers were detailed for this job and so were drawn away from the business of catching holdup men, burglars and murderers looks, to the man in the street, like poor waste of proportion. Recently published statistics, carefully compiled and from an authoritative source, show St. Louis, with a population about equal to that of Liverpool, to have suffered in the year 1919 from 11 times as many crimes of violence as that English city. If this be true what a reflection it is upon a police department's idea of the relative importance of raiding and games in private homes and raiding houses of doubtful reputation when set over against putting an end to murder, getting the gunman, arresting the footpad, the highwayman and the burglar.

St. Louis wants, of course, as clean a city morally as it is possible to make it, but it wants first its murder rate lowered. It wants to be able to go about its business in safety, whereas at the present moment no one can read the account of the latest murder, assault or robbery without reflecting that he may be the next victim of the man with the gun and the intent to rob and, if the whiz takes him, to murder.

One of the arguments which the prohibitionist often resorts to when the Volstead act comes under the discussion is that wherever prohibition has been tried the result has been a reduction in the number of crimes of violence. Assuming this statement to be true, then one can say that it will be the shame of America, together with her legislatures, her courts and her police departments if with prohibition she cannot effect as low a rate of crimes of violence per unit of population as Great Britain has effected without prohibition.

PERSPECTIVE.

Is It, or Ain't It?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Last week I sent three white plain shirts, without collar and without cuffs, to a laundry for which they charged me 75c. Six standing collars, 17c; cuffs, 3c. For a full shirt, 25 1/2c. I paid $1.15 for the shirt new. Is that profiteering, or ain't it?

Lindenwood on Lindenwood.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I see a letter now and then from some well-disposed person living in Lindenwood, in which despair is expressed of ever seeing the oft-promised street-car line to that village.

Why on earth anyone living in beautiful Lindenwood should want a street car line through their village is more than I can see. Lindenwood is a beautiful suburb, with winding roads, like an early New England village, built among little wooded hills and valleys. The trees are old and grand in their majesty; some are there today that might have sheltered our earliest ancestors, pioneers in this region. Charming vistas reaching in blue distance to the Ozarks of Jefferson County invite the eye of the artist; some of the glory of a sunrise over our city in a celestial dream city. About the general scene, better the village, characters that might have attracted the pen of a Washington Irving or a Clark McAdams. Peace reigns supreme. Why disturb the artistic beauty of this charming hamlet with the vulgar street car and the rude clang of the motorist's bell?
LAWALLAN BLODGETT.

A CHECK ON STATE GROWTH.

The proposed amendment to the secured debt tax law relating to mortgages, which is being urged upon the State Legislature by St. Louis real estate men, has a vital bearing upon the housing situation.

The amendment provides that notes secured by real estate mortgages shall be placed upon the same basis as municipal bonds and other securities now covered by the law. The holder of real estate securities may, by paying a tax when his note is filed, have the security stamped free from further taxation. Thus a tax would be assured on mortgages, many of which hitherto have escaped taxation. If they had not escaped taxation there would be little investment in real estate securities at current rates of interest. The taxes consume so large a part of the interest that money seeks other forms of investment.

By providing for a filing tax the scandal of tax dodging is greatly diminished. The State is assured of revenue from mortgage taxation and the amount of the tax will not drive money out of real estate investments. As a matter of fact, the present taxes on mortgages and the realty securing them represent double taxation when both are paid. The change to a filing tax is not only advantageous for the State, but is just to the taxpayers.

The importance, however, of the amendment lies in the menacing situation with regard to real estate investments. They no longer attract investors. In fact, the tax conditions repel them. Capital, is being drawn out of real estate at an alarming rate, to be put into tax-exempt securities or securities which enjoy the benefits of the filing-tax law. The persistent withdrawal of money from real estate loans and the difficulty of obtaining such loans under present tax laws are checking realty improvements which are imperatively needed. They are factors which work effectively with high building costs to increase the shortage of houses for both business purposes and homes. Building is practically at a standstill and not only will it soon be practically impossible to find capital to finance real estate improvements, including homes, but the owners of realty with mortgages resting upon them will be unable to get extensions and will be compelled to sacrifice their holdings. Misfortune will fall heavily upon home owners of small means who have built or bought homes with borrowed money and who are struggling to clear them from debt. They will be forced to sacrifice their homes.

With the housing situation are bound up questions touching the health and morals of the communities of the State. Unwholesome congestion seriously affecting the population and checking progress in all directions will be the inevitable result of the continuation of conditions which prevent or diminish investment in realty. Both country and city suffer. The development of both is retarded at a time when the State needs all the conditions that contribute to growth and progress.

The amendment, which is submitted to the present State Legislature, has been urged upon previous legislatures without success. Missouri has been going backward. If the State is to go forward conditions that make for backwardness must be changed. The mortgage tax is one of them. It is one of the most influential factors of backwardness, in the opinion of business men of sound judgment. The amendment is progressive legislation. May we not expect action to promote Missouri progress from the Republican administration?

AN IMPARTIAL MILK SURVEY.

The decision of the aldermanic committee investigating charges that milk sold in St. Louis is impure and a menace to public health to ask the United States Department of Agriculture to make an ex parte survey is commendable as indicating desire of the committee to learn the facts.

However, it is injudicious, because the department is not an ex parte agency. The chief characteristic of the discussion revolving about the character of this city's milk for two years has been that it largely is a controversy between the Department of Agriculture and the St. Louis Health Department.

The Federal authorities have been stating and restating that the milk control here is imperfect and results in milk below the standard served in other cities.

The city authorities have repeatedly denied the truth of the Federal charges. The statements of the Federal agency have been more convincing than the statements of Dr. Starkloff's city agency.

The procedure for the Aldermen at this time seems to be to introduce a third, disinterested agency, preferably some milk expert of national reputation—there are many of that caliber—to determine the fact and suggest the remedy.

Meanwhile the public is entitled to know beyond the possibility of contradiction what sort of milk it is getting. Above all, it is entitled to pure milk.

IRRESPONSIBLE ELECTION CONTESTS.

The suggestion by Maj. Harry Hawes that, in the revision of election laws, provision should be made against irresponsible contests, deserves serious consideration. The experience of Mr. Hawes, whose election to Congress from the Eleventh District doubtless influenced the recommendation, may be exceptional, but, in any event, it shows the embarrassment to which a successful candidate may be subjected and the costs that may be imposed on the public at the mere whim of a disappointed candidate.

The recount in this instance did not affect the result. The frauds complained of, as has been established.

lished, were entirely imaginary. Mr. Hawes lost 43 votes, but he would have gained 200 if voters who had written his name on their ballots had crossed out his opponent's name. Yet the expense of $2000, for conducting the recount, will have to be paid by the taxpayers, and the personal cost to Mr. Hawes is $500. The contestant's bill is trivial.

Mr. Hawes suggests that where a contest is filed and no fraud is disclosed, but only such mistakes as humanly occur in the haste of tabulation, the contestant ought to bear the cost of the recount, or a substantial part of it. Or, if that would seem a bar to men of limited means, or a price on justice, it is proposed that the defeated candidate be required to furnish evidence, say in the form of a remonstrance, of a considerable dissatisfaction with the announced result before a recount may be ordered.

It goes without saying that no obstacles should be put in the way of exposing election frauds. At the same time contests brought on no evidence of dishonesty, but simply on the pique or caprice of a defeated nominee, are manifestly objectionable. A provision in the election laws preventing irresponsible contests, or penalizing such contestants, would protect election results from indignities to which they are now exposed and the public treasury from heavy drafts.

FANATICISM AND FUNDAMENTALS.

After the trial of two cases, in which the charge was violation of the State prohibition law, Judge Miller of the Court of Criminal Correction dismissed the entire panel of jurors and continued the remaining cases on the docket until February when a new panel will report for duty.

In explaining his action Judge Miller said he felt the evidence in the two cases that had been tried was convincing, but the juries had been unable to reach a verdict. Under the circumstances the Judge concluded it would be useless to proceed further with the prosecution, because, he felt, the jurors were not in sympathy with the law prohibiting the manufacture of liquor in the homes. Conviction, therefore, was impossible. The question, from the standpoint of the court's functioning, accordingly, is in abeyance.

But the question submitted to the public cannot be shelved. It is sharply before the house. It must be met. It cannot be met in the customary fashion of the prohibition zealots by denouncing the jurors. Nothing will be contributed to the solution of the problem by impassioned declarations that prohibition, drastic, inquisitorial, intolerable, is the law of the land and must be enforced. Prohibition may possess the form of law, but if it lacks the substance it is only a tyrannical regulation. And the substance of law is the expression of public sentiment. Manifestly the State prohibition law does not express the sentiment of the dismissed jurors.

To what extent does prohibition express public sentiment? That is the question. Evidence is widespread that public sentiment does not approve the degree of prohibition which intolerance has ruthlessly imposed. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that the American nation is in rebellion against this regulation. The rebellion has many moods—jocular, indignant, mercenary. It operates in different ways—in individual experimenting, in conspiracies financed and manned like invading hosts. But whatever its mood or manner, it all shows contempt for the law, and the result is a condition of lawlessness without precedent in our history.

The findings of the juries in our Court of Criminal Correction and the construction of such findings by the Judge, together with his action in adjourning court, so to speak, emphasize the fact that fanaticism has finally collided head-on with a fundamental, namely, that this is a Government of public opinion, and that any mandate that lacks the support of public sentiment is a dead letter.

The haughty egg refuses to mix up in the price scramble.

MOVIES AND THE SPELLERS.

It is a dull day when the movies are not blamed for something. Now a professor at Illinois State Normal University has discovered that the rising generation cannot spell, and since the rise of the movies has been concurrent with the rise of the present generation, it follows that the movies are the cause. No, it is not misspelled titles that have done the harm. It is the elimination, by the movies, of the spelling bees.

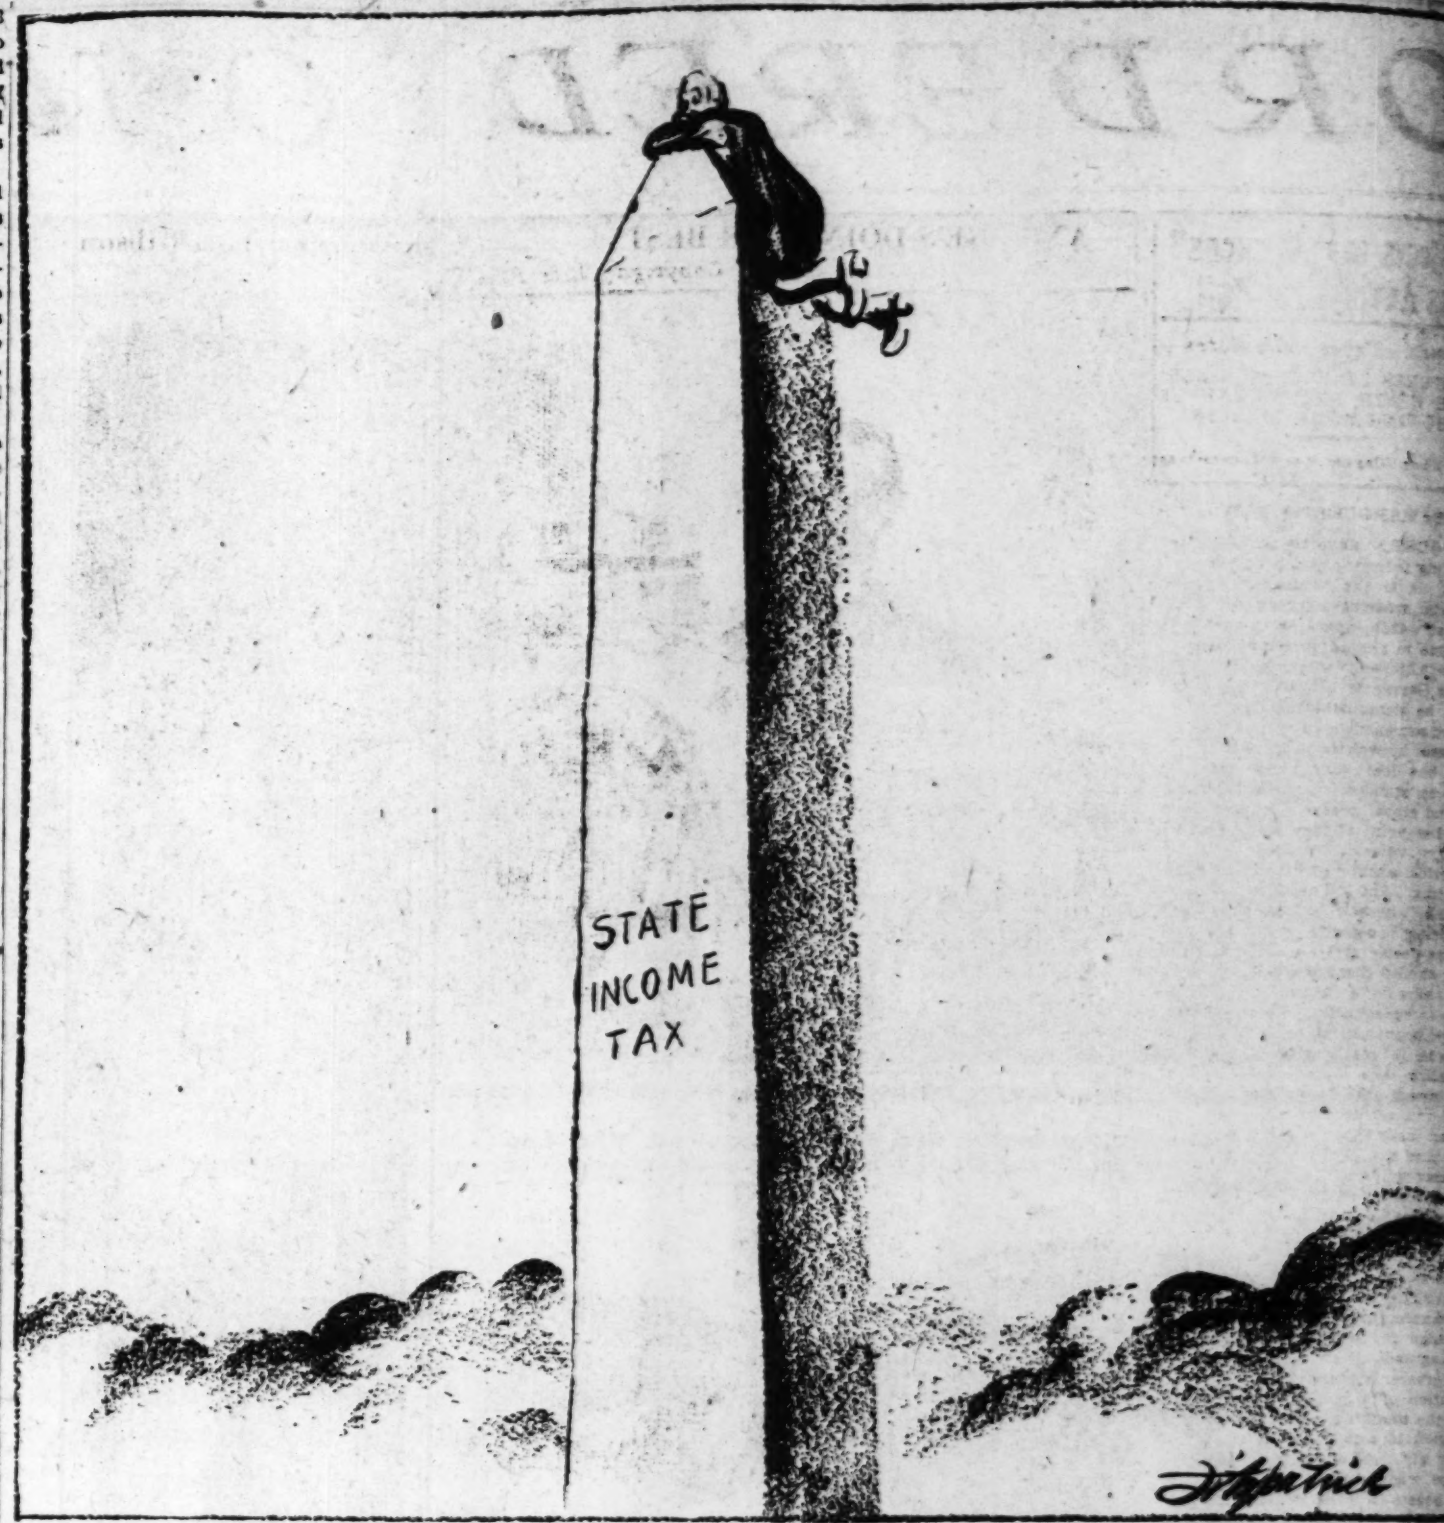

It is true that the spelling bee has gone the way of ping pong and bean bag, but we cannot agree with the conclusion of Prof. Elmer W. Carvins, head orthographer at the university, that spelling bees made spellers. We have always been of the opinion that the spelling bee was the devil's own device for unmaking spellers. When the spelling bees were prevalent people went to them to see spellers slaughtered. Spellers who never missed any other time always missed at the spelling bee. Scientific spellers or natural born spellers, it was all the same. They all fell. And, like as not, some slip of a speller who never heard of orthography and could not spell it in 10 tries, got the best of all the breaks and walked off with the honors and the purple plush family album.

If the movies put the spelling bee out of business it was the juggernaut of progress. High-grade spellers, almost exterminated by the deadly spelling bee, will gradually regain self-confidence, their tribe will increase and the next generation will see a renaissance of spelling, unaffected by the vogue of the movies.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

SOCRATES: The discussion at the agora last night was in some respects about the best we have had. I don't know whether you know it or not, but we have begun to wonder about ourselves.

GLAUCON: I should think we might.

SOCRATES: That was what a good many people said last night. They thought it high time we paused and considered carefully the way we are going.

POLEMARCHUS: Isn't it quite well known that we are taking some sort of short-cut to glory? Socrates: Tut-tut, Polemarchus! We have not the least idea what we are getting at. There is more confusion among us than there has been in half a century. Anyway, in the course of the discussion someone was kind enough to suggest that I sum up for the assemblage about what all of us think, and I was of course happy to do that.

THRASYMACHUS: What is it we think? Socrates: We think, I imagine, that we cannot know ourselves very well. Someone said of us recently that we don't know ourselves in the United States, and someone else said of us that we are the incurable people who have never dared subject ourselves to restraint. We tried during the war to take ourselves in hand rather sternly, and no administration ever went out of power in this country quite like that which had the unpleasant task of disciplining us in the way we thought we ought to be disciplined at that time. We have in prohibition another and similar proof that we do not know ourselves. If there was ever such a mess in any country since the time of Sargon I, King of Babylon, I don't know when it was stirred up. Imagine us trying to make ourselves do something we won't do and you have a fair picture of what has been going on in this country the last two or three years.

POLEMARCHUS: We lack self-control, so to speak.

SOCRATES: No doubt of it. We could probably make most other countries do anything we chose, since we are so much wigger and more powerful than most other countries are, but when we try to make ourselves do something we don't want to do our very bulk and strength makes us the more absurd for not being able to do it.

THRASYMACHUS: Were you kind enough to suggest at the agora where we go from here? Socrates: I said something about it that seemed to impress pretty much everyone in the house. I proposed that we give up for a while trying to make ourselves do anything new, in order that we may ascertain how far we are going to be able to keep the commandments we have already made for ourselves.

GLAUCON: We have a lot of commandments. Socrates: We have, indeed. You can't set anybody up in a high place, much less a mountain, that he doesn't bring down some more.

POLEMARCHUS: I suppose there is a limit to what any people can stand.

SOCRATES: Maybe there is a limit to what human nature can stand. At any rate, the original commandments had the virtue of stopping somewhere.

THRASYMACHUS: You said something, Socrates, if you said that.

SOCRATES: Very well. Now let us all smoke while we may.

John Marshall was a great man and, like many great men, he became at times very much absorbed with his thoughts. Riding along the bad roads of North Carolina one day in a stick gig, the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court was revolving a point of law in his mind and not paying a great deal of attention to the road. His horse turned out of its own accord and the gig ran over a sapling and tilted so sharply that the Judge was aroused from his reverie. It seemed to him that he was hung up on the sapling, for he could turn neither to the right or left. An old negro happened along, scratched his head a moment and said:

"Marre, whut fer you'll don't back yo' horse often that saplin'?"

"That's so," replied Marshall, who had not thought of that simple solution, and promptly backed away from the obstruction. He thanked the old man and was about to reward him, but found he had no money in his pocket.

"Never mind, uncle," he said as he drove away. "I'll stop at the tavern and leave something for you."

The old negro was not impressed, but for fear he might overlook a bet stopped at the tavern and there the landlord gave him a dollar, which Marshall had left for him.

"What did you think of him?" the landlord asked.

"Well," answered the negro, "well, he was a gentleman, sho' nuff, but" and he patted his forehead significantly, "pears to this dorky like they ain't much o' nuthin' in that man's head."

Then Rose came back with the infallible rule for memory training.

"I'll tell ye, ma'am," says she. "All me life never a lie I've told. And when ye don't have to be taxi' yer memory to be rememberin' what ye told this one or that one or how ye explained this or that ye don't overwork it. And it lasts ye, good as new, forever."—New York Sun.

WILSON ON ARMENIA.

From the Valley of Constantinople.

AS the Armenian question is so intimately bound up with the Turkish question, we doubt whether Mr. Wilson will succeed in fixing the frontiers of the young republic without upsetting the treaty of Sevres. We know that the peace conference thought it would be possible to detach the Armenian problem from the Ottoman statutes. But in reality it is impossible to carry out the treaty of Sevres without shaking the whole of the Ottoman Empire. The Armenian question is a question of life or death for the Ottoman Empire. It is enough that Armenia desires self-determination for him to stretch out his hand to her. That is good. But why should the Wilson principle be applied when it is a question of Armenia? We are sure that Mr. Wilson will not allow his points, so celebrated two years ago. The President is an honest man and a man of principle. He has given many proofs of it. Therefore we believe that, deputed by the conference to settle the Armenian question, he will do his best to see that he can and will respect the rights of the Armenians as well as those of the Turks.

SEX IN INDUSTRY LEGISLATION.

From the Chicago News.

MISS MARY ANDERSON, Chief of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, proposes recent proposals in the United States Senate to remove the Women's Bureau from the Department of Labor and incorporate it in a new department of welfare. "It would be another step toward sex legislation, which we do not want," says Miss Anderson. The basis of the opposition among women leaders to this proposal is that it is a segregation in politics and industry. That would be a false division which would tend toward class legislation which would best be avoided. It is far more appropriate to treat the problems of women in industry as part of the general labor problem and from the point of view of the industrial situation. Though women may well organize for political and economic co-operation in order to improve conditions of their rightful points of view on the Government, they are not, and should not become, industrially a separately classified unit.

END OF INTELLECTUAL BLOCAGE.

From the Nation.

WITH the announcement by the Rockefeller Foundation of its virtual adoption for the present of some of the medical schools of Europe, our intellectual rapprochement with the former enemy countries may be said to be under way. That there was need for such a move almost without saying. The German and Austrian universities crowded now as they have never been before, lack almost everything that makes university life possible. They are in cases utterly destitute—first of funds, then as a natural consequence, of books and laboratory apparatus. Hundreds of scientific and literary periodicals have had to suspend publication. Cases of utter destitution—first of funds, then as a natural consequence, of books and laboratory apparatus. Hundreds of scientific and literary periodicals have had to suspend publication. Cases of utter destitution—first of funds, then as a natural consequence, of books and laboratory apparatus. Hundreds of scientific and literary periodicals have had to suspend publication.

Result of all this, if it had not come from the outside world, could have been nothing less than the cessation of the development—of the existence—of art and science in the Central European countries, an incalculable loss to the world.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

PIKERS.

There wasn't any wave of crime when Jesse James was in his prime,
A man could shoot and rob and loot
With little competition.
In consequence the bandit game brought easy wealth and widespread fame
To men of James' perverted aims
And criminal ambition.

Bold buccaners were very few when Kidd the Jolly Roger flew,
The fact that he on many a sea
Pursued his dread vocation,
A few defenceless galleons sank and made the sailors walk the plank,
Or had 'em shot, was all that got
The old man's reputation.

No gun men walked their evil ways, in Robin Hood's romantic days,
Whose burly forms appeared in swarms
In city, town and village;
And that's the reason Mr. Hood so very easily made good
When he essayed the gainful trade
Of robbery and pillage.

If these three birds should strive today to make the modern world their prey,
Despite the fame that clothes each name
With bright romantic splendors,
Their time would be extremely short; they'd all be pinched and haled to court,
Although they might be let off light
As trivial offenders.
